THURSDAY, DECEMBER 18TH, 2014

Everyone here at The GEM wishes all our readers and advertisers a very peaceful Christmas and every good fortune in the New Year. We are now taking a festive break and will not be publishing next week, but we will be back again on Thursday, January 1.

Reception class took Fluffy to the Panto!

THE reception class at Jenner Park Primary School had 100 per cent attendance last week – and Fluffy (the school dog) spent the week with the class as a reward. They took him to the Christmas panto which he thoroughly enjoyed.

Family's desperate plea for health board support over vital cancer drug

Report by TIM CHAPMAN

A Dinas Powys man is appealing to the Cardiff and the Vale University Health Board to allow doctors to prescribe him a vital anti-cancer drug.

Mr Ronald Squires (74) believes 'Axitinib', a drug that interferes in the growth of cancer cells, could make a significant improvement to his health. MP Alun Cairns said he had called on the board to review its decision to refuse him the drug. The family understand that patients in Scotland and England are able to access it.

The board told The GEM it was reviewing information and would be in touch with Mr Squires and his family as soon as possible.

Mr Squires told The GEM: "My consultant at Velindre said Axitinib would be the best drug for me. The consultant asked for the drug, but was turned down, and an appeal was turned down too.

"People in Scotland and England can get the drug. I worked all my life in industry and paid all my stoppages to the National Health. I think people across the United Kingdom should be able to get the same treatment."

Mr Squires said the care he had received from the NHS had been "brilliant", but he felt let down by the local health board.

He said he had been sustained through a very difficult period by the support of his family and the community, and was thankful for Mr Cairns' help.

Mr Squires' daughter Lynne explained: "The drug my father is being denied could make a considerable difference to his life in terms of reduced side effects and also extend his life.

"Friends and family in England have said 'come and live with us' so he can get the drug, but he has lived in his house for 46 years."

In total, the family have made three official attempts to get the drug prescribed and Lynne is now preparing a 'judicial review'.

What adds to the family's frustration is that the drug is close to approval, and also that they have been told that if Mr Squires provides a top-up of £4,000 a month – the difference in cost between his current drug and Axitinib – he could have it. It is money he does not have.

A patient in Newport, Mr David Southwood, who was initially paying towards the drug, said he would move to Somerset if necessary so he could get it free in England.

The Aneurin Bevan University Health Board, which covers the Newport area, recently approved the drug for Mr Southwood.

Mr Cairns said: "Ronald Squires is a victim of a postcode lottery in health care. If he lived in England he would be prescribed the drug through the NHS Cancer Drugs Fund."

State funding issues affecting Vale pupils

I'M writing in the hope of making local parents aware of the terrible state of funding for Vale pupils.

In my current role as governor for a Vale primary school, I was shocked and angered at the harsh facts that Vale schools sit 17th out of 22 local authorities in Wales, in terms of the average spent per pupil.

On top of that, which I feel is the main problem, average spend in England is £700 more per pupil.

This means Vale schools falls almost £1,400 short of the average spend per pupil in England.

How can Westminster and the Welsh Assembly justify this?

From an equal opportunities point of view, this is nothing more than discrimination.

If this was a gender or race issue, it would not be allowed to happen.

With rising class sizes, increasing special needs for children and a shortage of LSAs due to funding, reading my school report is deeply concerning and making the books add up is a near impossible task.

I will be forwarding my concerns in a letter to Alun Cairns MP, in the hope of raising some awareness ahead of next year's election.

I hope your readers will do the same on behalf of their children.

D Kearse,

Recycling and waste online

WITH reference to an item in The GEM recently, at last some council department have used their brains and come up with a good money-saving idea worth approximately £24,000.

Printed Recycling and Waste calenders will now be obtained online, and black and white printouts obtained by phone for those who are not online.

To save further costs of postage, print versions could be placed in libraries, post offices and council offices.

Has anyone else got a feasible money saving suggestion to stop further welfare cuts?

GIVE TIME TO MARIE CURIE

I AM appealing to GEM readers to volunteer for Marie Curie's Great Daffodil Appeal, and help people living with a terminal illness get the care they need.

We're looking for people who can donate a couple of hours of their time to collect for Marie Curie this February and March. All they need to do is encourage people to give a donation in return for a daffodil pin.

Collecting for the Great Daffodil Appeal will help Marie Curie Nurses care for someone in the local Cardiff and Vale hospice at Penarth, so they can spend more time with the people they love.

If you're able to donate your time to help, please contact me on 02920 426068; email Helen.mulhern@mariecurie.org.uk or visit www.mariecurie.org.uk/daffodil.

TRANSPORT GROUP THANKS HELPERS

IT'S been a busy year for the East Vale Community Transport (EVCT) providing transport for a number of organisations in Penarth, Cogan, Llandough and Sully.

Approximately 250 trips have been provided this year taking some 3,528 members on a range of excursions, including locally the Pier and Cosmeston, further afield to Weston Super Mare, Cwmbran, Bath, Newtown and mid Wales, shopping trips to supermarkets – and at this time of year our special seasonal trips to see the Christmas lights.

We wish to thank everyone who came out to support us at this year's Penarth Christmas Festival – when Santa Claus came to town.

Details can be found on our new web-site www.evct.org.uk.

Our office will be closed from December 18 to January 5. We wish to extend seasonal greetings to all our members and those who help provide our services, and look forward to a busy 2015.

Ken Pile
(EVCT Trustee).

Scout Post excels itself!

THIS year, Scout Christmas Post in Cowbridge has been more successful than ever.

Last year, 12,800 stamps were sold; this year, over 16,600 – an increase of 30 per cent. By now most of these will have been delivered and any remaining will be delivered this weekend.

The sorting and delivering has involved over 60 families, without whose help Scout Post could not operate. A huge 'thank you' to each and every one.

The sale of stamps also involves a lot of extra work for the staff in our outlets: Davies', Charity Card shop, Barnes, Arthur John, and the library; and we are very grateful to them all.

No matter how hard we try, we still get cards for addresses outside of our delivery areas, and these will be kept in the Scout Hall.

They can be collected from me if you call 01446 773263. There are also several with only Christian names and no addresses.

I am sure the huge increase in sale of stamps is partly due to the front page article in The GEM in November.

A thank you, also, to all of you who use the Scout Post. The funds it generates for Cowbridge Scout Group, 20p for each stamp sold, contributes enormously to the cost of running the whole troop.

David Weber,
Cowbridge.

The plight of Christians in the Middle East

I HOPE that at Christmas we will find time to think about the plight of Christians and other minorities in the Bible lands, particularly Syria and Iraq, where they face annihilation, due to the activities of ISIS and other extremists.

According to a recent report in the Independent newspaper, the Iraqi government and the Kurdistan regional government have failed in their pledge to defend the Christians and other minorities against the extremists.

The number of Christians in Iraq has declined from over one million in 2003 to about 250,000 today.

Iraqi Christians have been frequent victims of murder, kidnapping and robbery.

They have had their homes, farms, shops, and vehicles taken from them, and sometimes their children stolen.

The Christians and other minorities are in need of such basic items as food, blankets, and hygiene items, particularly now the Iraqi winter has set in.

May I urge your readers to be generous to those charities which are bringing aid to beleaguered minorities in the Middle East?

Rev Robert Parrish,
Rector of Merthyr Dyfan, Barry.

Tenovus' thank you

AS 2014 draws to a close I'd like to take some time to thank all 1,900 volunteers who generously give so much time to Tenovus Cancer Care across Wales.

Tenovus Cancer Care supports cancer patients and their loved ones by offering emotional support and practical advice. The hard work and dedication of our volunteers means that we're able to continue our vital work in the community and help more people affected by cancer.

We're really very grateful to them, and we're looking forward to a fantastic 2015!

Claudia McVie,
Cardiff.
(Chief Executive, Tenovus Cancer Care)

GUIDE DOGS' GRATITUDE

ON behalf of Guide Dogs for the Blind, I would like to thank the people of Cowbridge for their generosity in raising £426 at the street collection held on November 15.

The money raised will go towards training guide dogs for visually impaired people in Wales, and give them the independence to go about their lives as normally as possible.

John Chard, Penarth.

IN PRAISE OF WELSH NHS

I AM in agreement with Colin James, Barry, (The GEM, December 11); it is about time media, politicians and BBC presenters think about all the operations and treatments the NHS carry out every day – mostly sucessfully – and the occasions our ambulance service are criticised for delays that they are unable to do anything about.

I have been very lucky to have had the Welsh NHS care for me. I am now 84 years old: in 1983, I had a brain bleed and in 1999 and 2002, I had both hips replaced. Then, four years ago, I had a stroke. The first responders, Wendy from Penmark and her driver, attended me for an hour, while the ambulance they called took an hour to come as it was held up at Heath Hospital.

They then took me to Llandough, where I could not have had better treatment and quality service.

So please, think of the effort our loyal Welsh NHS people carry out every day.

Let's have more praise and less complaining!

Yes, mistakes are made, but we are all only human beings.

D G Harris,
Rhoose.

Waiting game for hospital ops

I REFER to previous correspondence regarding NHS waiting times for hip and knee operations which Mark Drakeford AM stated to be 15 weeks.

In a letter from the Minister's office, they attempted to justify his remarks by saying this was the median time.

If this was the case, it would mean that some would be higher and some lower.

There are no hospitals in Wales where the waiting times are anywhere near this time.

In a recent conversation with the management of the Princess of Wales Hospital, I was informed that all elective surgery at the hospital, including hips and knees, has been cancelled indefinitely, with no idea of a date when these would recommence.

As far as the Health Minister is concerned, there are only two possibilities regarding his statement:

Either he deliberately misled the Welsh people or he does not know what is happening in the hospitals under his care.

To allow a major hospital to collapse to the point where they cannot provide the care the people of Wales deserve, is unforgiveable.

MT Hopkins,
Cowbridge.

HIGH TIDE TIMES
(UNTIL DECEMBER 25)

The high tides listed in this week's GEM are those in Porthcawl. It should be remembered that along the coast, high tide times will vary. For instance, in Barry, the high point will be 20 – 25 minutes later.

DATE	Time AM	Ht M	Time PM	Ht M
18 Thur	03.05	8.0	15.28	8.2
19 Fri	03.59	8.4	16.21	8.6
20 Sat	04.48	8.9	17.08	9.1
21 Sun	05.33	9.4	17.52	9.5

24 Wed	07.47	10.3	20.08	10.0
25 Thur	08.32	10.2	20.55	9.8

While The GEM makes every effort to check the accuracy of tide tables, we recommend that anyone putting out to sea, or walking in an area where they could be cut off, should check with a tide table specific to their location.

We abide by the code of practice upheld by the Independent Press Standards Organisation (IPSO). This contains provisions for issues such as accuracy.

If you have a complaint, write to us at the address below, left, or call editorial manager Don John on 01446 774484. All complaints will be fully investigated. MP SUPPORTS FAMILY'S APPEAL FOR VITAL DRUG

Wales does not have an equivalent drugs fund.

Mr Cairns continued: "Having spoken to his consultant and the clinical approval body NICE, I have discovered that the drug has almost cleared the approval process.

"In view of the impact it could have on Ron, there is little benefit in waiting. The difference in time could be critical.

"Ron's case is also strengthened by the complexities of his condition.

"The side effects of his current drug are generating other health issues. It is believed that Axitinib would help overcome this.

"To be denied a drug that has been shown to have such a positive effect is devastating for Ron and his family.

"We need to do all we can to get the review that Ron so desperately needs. I call on the community to write to or email Maria Battle as chairman of the LHB to support the case for the review."

Mr Cairns said suggestions that the family could top up the difference of the treatment costs were "ridiculous".

A spokesman for Cardiff and Vale University Health Board said that NICE had postponed publishing a decision until February but added: "The Chair has asked for all the information to be reviewed as a matter of urgency and will be speaking with the family as soon as possible."

A Welsh Government spokesperson emphasised that it was unable to comment on individual cases.

He said: "In determining the effectiveness of medicines such as Axitinib and their potential to benefit patients, we are guided by the recommendations of the National Institute for Health and Care Excellence (NICE), and the All Wales Medicines Strategy Group (AWMSG).

"If either of these bodies recommends the use of a medicine it will be made available to patients in Wales for treatment of the relevant indication.

"NICE has today (December 16) published the final draft guidance recommending Axitinib as an option for the treatment of advanced renal cell carcinoma. There will now be a period of consultation.

"Health boards have a statutory responsibility to comply with NICE technology appraisals no later than three months from the publication of the final guidance."

Barry pub goers tested for drugs

EIGHT people were found with drug residue on their hands during a police operation to crack down on substance abuse.

The testing was carried out in the Sir Samuel Romilly pub, Barry, on the afternoon of Saturday, November 29.

Pub goers were tested with a 'drug itemiser', a device which can detect traces of banned substances including cocaine, cannabis, heroin and ecstasy.

The checks were voluntary but anyone who refused to be tested was not allowed entry to the pub.

Swabs taken from the hands of around 150 people were fed into the machine for an instant analysis. Eight patrons tested positive for drug residue. The eight people were subsequently searched for drugs with negative results.

Police Constable Dave Barrett said: "It was a very successful afternoon. The results were very encouraging but it is essential we continue this work in the future to address the minority of people whose behaviour causes problems.

"We hope that it emphasises that South Wales Police and our partners will not tolerate drugs and we take our responsibilities extremely seriously. We have a zero tolerance policy on the use of illegal substances".

PC Barrett added: "The fact that the feedback on the day was so consistently positive indicates that we have the support of the public on this".

No New Year for Barry?

A Vale resident wonders whether Barry will be silent at the stroke of the New Year, while the rest of the country is celebrating!

The reason? The town hall clock on King Square is stuck at three minutes past three!

Mike Cheeseman, who lived in Barry for many years before moving to Rhoose a couple of years ago, told The GEM: "The lock has been stuck on three minutes past three o'clock for a couple of months now.

"What has happened to it? Has the council sacked the person that usually winds up the clock? Is the clockwork mechanism broken?

"Has the repair been delayed because they are waiting for a replacement part. Or have they just misplaced the key? I was wondering what time will Barry be celebrating the start of the New Year. If the clock cannot be repaired before New Year's Eve, perhaps they could alter the position of the hands so that it shows 12 o'clock!"

A Vale Council spokesman explained: "Unfortunately, the clock may not strike 12 at the end of 2014.

"A part within the clock mechanism must be replaced and as the clock is of a bespoke design, this means that a new part will have to be manufactured from scratch.

"While this will take some time, we are confident that it will not prevent any of our residents celebrating the turn of the New Year in style."

Track safety course for Barry jobseekers

BARRY Communities First, in partnership with Absolute Rail, is seeking jobseekers aged 18 and over for a free 10-day personal track safety course in the New Year.

Participants will take part in classroom assessments and practical sessions that include how to work safely and how to do basic repairs on a railway track.

They will be awarded a Blue Rail Card, which will allow them to work in the rail industry as general rail track operators.

They must live in a Barry Communities First area, which includes parts of Buttrills, Cadoc, Castleland, Court and Gibbonsdown.

For details, contact 01446 709432, or visit www.BarryCommunitiesFirst.org.

RHOOSE NEIGHBOURS GO ON A TOUR OF WESTMINSTER...

A GROUP of neighbours from Rhoose were given a tour of Parliament recently by the Vale of Glamorgan MP, Alun Cairns.

Mr Cairns said: "The group showed great interest in the history of Westminster. I was very interested to hear opinions about the proposed library changes and planning issues that are affecting Rhoose and the surrounding villages."

Eco children inspire adults to be creative

ABOUT 50 people joined the rangers at the Forest Lodge, Porthkerry, on December 6, for an afternoon of Christmas craft making.

The session saw children and adults alike creating eco-friendly Christmas decorations made from either recycled materials, or things collected from within the park.

The finished products included woven twig star decorations, clay reindeer models, and Christmas wish wood cookies.

Mel Stewart, Park Ranger, said: "The children were so imaginative with what they created and their enthusiasm was so contagious that by the end of the afternoon, nearly all the adults had created something to take home, too."

Barry Men's Forum hears tragic tale of Scott of the Antarctic

DOCTOR Tom Sharpe, the speaker at last week's Barry Men's Forum, spoke on the inhospitable Antarctic continent.

Apart from being the coldest place in the world, it is also the driest and highest most isolated continent. The North Pole and the Arctic is an ice field surrounded by continents whereas the South Pole and Antarctic is a continent surrounded by sea and covered with ice.

Some 100 years ago, very little was known about Antarctica; on maps drawn from that time it was considered to be a group of small islands covered in ice.

Robert Falcon Scott (1868 –1912) was an officer in the Royal Navy. He was most famous for his scientific interests and his exploration of the Antarctic. He led two expeditions to Antarctica.

In 1901-1904, he led the first British Antarctic Expedition, organised by the Royal Society and the Royal Geographic Society. It aimed to carry out scientific research and geographic exploration in what was an unknown area. Scott was accompanied by Ernest Shackleton, Edward Wilson, Frank Wild, Tom Crean and William Lashly.

The expedition travelled to within 100 miles of the South Pole, but was forced to turn back due to lack of supplies.

Scott's heroic, ill-fated second expedition (1910-1912) commenced when Terra Nova sailed from Cardiff in June 1910; it was powered by Welsh steam coal and sail.

After their mechanical sledges were abandoned, Scott, Williams, Oates, Bowers and Evans walked to the South Pole, dragging their sleds behind them.

They arrived at the South Pole on January 17, 1912, only to find Norwegian explorer, Roald Amundsen, had arrived at the South Pole before them.

During Scott's return to his base camp, the weather closed in and the five men perished on the journey.

After the festive celebrations, on Thursday, January 8, Roger Williams will be speaking on the topic of 'Jerusalem'.

The Forum meets at Trinity Presbyterian Church Hall, Aberystwyth Crescent, every Thursday at 10.15am. New members are very welcome.

Pupils buried their treasure in time capsule!

Pupils from Barry Island Primary at the ceremony.

CHILDREN from Barry Island Primary School spent a morning burying 'treasure' at the former Marine Hotel housing development.

The 28 pupils in the reception class each donated an item to form a time capsule as part of a class project to celebrate their first year in the primary school.

They sang songs before the time capsule was lowered into its new home, where it will stay until the pupils finish primary school in seven years' time.

Burying treasure is especially poignant as the Marine Hotel was built by Francis Crawshay, a keen yachtsman who built the hotel in 1850. The hotel beds were built as bunks and access to upper floors was on iron ladders!

Headteacher Ty Golding said: "The opportunity for our children to work alongside Newydd on the Marine Hotel project has been an engaging and meaningful one. It has long been a landmark of our community and there is a genuine buzz from the children as they follow and get involved with the building on its transformational journey.

"One of the most exciting activities has been the organisation of a time capsule to be built into the renovations. The children have worked hard to think about, collect and store resources and potential artefacts. The time capsule has captured the imagination of everyone from our youngest learners to staff and parents; it is a perfect way for us all to share a little bit of what makes our excellent school and community such a special place."

Later, the site manager at contractors Pendragon Design and Build gave the pupils a tour around the £2.4 million housing development.

TOURIST RAILWAY HOSTS VISITOR FROM NORTH POLE IN LEAD-UP TO CHRISTMAS

Photographs by MIKE WILCOCK

BARRY Tourist Railway organised a visit from Father Christmas last weekend – and he will be back this weekend too!

Thanks to the organisational skills of railway volunteer Kathryn Kemp, Father Christmas knew the names and ages of the children when he appeared in the carriage with all the presents.

Over the weekend there were four train journeys a day and as you can see from Mike Wilcock's pictures, the children were thrilled to meet the 'main man' himself so early in the festive season.

RIGHT: How did Father Christmas know all the children's names? With a little help from Barry Tourist Railway volunteers.

Dinas Powys lifts Fairtrade

LOCAL organiser for Fairtrade, Cathie Jackson, has welcomed Dinas Powys Community Council's reaffirming support for Fairtrade when she addressed the monthly meeting of the council.

She detailed the support given to overseas small farmers which helped to ensure that they received a fair price for their produce.

Fairtrade guaranteed a market for their goods. In addition, an element of the income was allocated to community services, such as a school or health clinic.

Chair of the council, Coun Chris Franks, congratulated Mrs Jackson onher hard work and dedication. As a result of the council resolution, Dinas Powys is confirmed as a Fairtrade community.

"The council will seek to support the use of Fairtrade products and raise awareness throughout the community," he said.

Sully U3A end year on a festive note...

THE Sully U3A rounded off a successful year with a Christmas social when chairman, Jean Bispham, welcomed over 100 members, who enjoyed festive food and drink served by the committee.

Ginny Golding had organised two quizzes and a raffle. Members were entertained by the Singing for Pleasure Group, led by Rosemary Cook which now numbers almost 30. Christmas and popular songs were enjoyed by everyone and carol singing rounded off a happy afternoon.

Sully U3A will meet again on Thursday, January 8 at 2pm in The Old School, Sully, when the drama group will present a pantomime The Belle of the Ball: A Third Age Love Story. New members are welcome and can join for 2015 at that meeting.

ROYAL FOREST OF DEAN AND A NORMAN COURT!

FIFTEEN walkers joined leader Geraint and his sheepdog Patch at Dinas Powys in brilliant sunshine, before crunching through white frosted meadows at the Millfields, then following and crossing the Cadoxton River to reach Michaelston-le-Pit.

Tramping through sheep-filled fields and woodland tracks, to reach the ruined Brynwell farmhouse, a stop was made to view the old medieval window, before clambering safely over a locked gate that threatened to impede their progress – in order to enjoy morning refreshments in warm sunshine in the field below West Hill Wood.

Climbing slippery pathways through the wood to exit at Cock Hill, from where there were brilliant views across the Barrage and Penarth Head, and moving on through Woodland Lane to join Leckwith Road, they tramped on passing the old church, now a private dwelling, to reach The Green.

Passing some foresters' houses and what remains of Leckwith Common a lane led back to Michaelston. Re-crossing the river, rough farm tracks led them back to their start through Cwm George after what had been a delightful morning's walk.

William guided his group of four ramblers safely through the old tracks that criss-cross the delightful Royal Forest of Dean on what remained almost a dry day.

Leaving Edge End, home to many foresters who can trace their ancestry back through the centuries, pretty woodland tracks where turf has been dug up by hungry boars, led them to part of the Gloucestershire Way near Speech House. Inside the building is a courtroom still used by the Verderers' Court, developed after Norman times to administer forest law to protect deer and boar within the Forest of Dean.

Situated within a cleft of the Severn and Wye rivers the Forest of Dean is steeped in history and was an important area for mining, iron production and wood which was used to build ships for the Royal Navy.

Tramping through part of the Sculpture Trail, then along disused railway beds before joining the Wysis Way, and enjoying lunch near the site of the old Speculation coal mine, they fleetingly caught sight of two fast-moving deer as they climbed towards Middle Ridge, returning through Swallowvallets Inclosure just as light misty rain began to fall.

Donors save lives

CHARITY supporters in the Vale are helping to save thousands of lives through cash pledges they have made this year.

St John Cymru Wales has been promised just over £9,500 by 147 new donors in the county in 2014. The funds will help the charity achieve its aim of having a first aider on every street in the Wales by 2017.

"The money that has been donated in the Vale of Glamorgan could pay for 52 classes that would teach a group of 12 parents infant or child first aid, or first aid sessions for 80 classes of 30 school children."

Alison Palfrey, director of fundraising at St John Cymru Wales, said: "Across Wales, donors have pledged almost £340,000 to the charity this year, which has meant we can give more and more people essential first aid skills that can save lives.

"By visiting www.stjohnwales.org.uk anyone can give a donation that could one day help save their life."

YOUNG CHEFS COMPETE IN ROTARY COMPETITION

ON December 3, the Rotary Club of Barry held its Young Chef competition at Bryn Hafren Comprehensive School, the first stage of a Rotary organised national competition for young people to develop their skills in a range of disciplines.

The competition was, once again, hosted by Sue Hooper, the head of home economics at Bryn Hafren, with support from her colleague Sue Johnston. Four students from the school competed for the Stanley Brierley Shield named after a past District Governor of Rotary from Barry.

The competition was judged by Darren Greenland from the hospitality and catering department of Cardiff and Vale College and by Janet Scicluna, principal consultant from Janet Scicluna Associates, who commended the contestants on the challenging menus they had chosen and the very high standards of their cooking and presentation.

The winner of the shield was Sydney McLean closely followed by Lauren Wileman who held off close challenges from both Emily Halford and Rachele Walters. The four competitors had been chosen to compete following their success in a school competition.

The president of Barry Rotary Club, Robin Pitcher, presented Sydney with her shield and handed certificates to all the young chefs who competed. He too was impressed by the standard they achieved and complimented them on taking part with such skill and enthusiasm.

Sydney will now go on to the next round representing Barry in the Cardiff and Vale area final, which will be held early in the new year, and if successful will proceed to the south Wales competition.

For information on Rotary, speak to Barry Rotary Club past president Peter Battle on 01446 710204 or online at www.ribi.org.

Club members meet weekly on Thursdays in the Glenbrook Inn in Barry at 6.30pm. Membership is open to women as well as men.

Darren Greenland of Cardiff and Vale College, Janet Scicluna of Janet Scicluna Associates and Sue Hooper of Bryn Hafren, with Sydney McLean.

Quiz for the NFU ladies!

AFTER the recent Christmas carol service, the NFU ladies headed back to the Penllyn Hall, to sample the fabulous Christmas banquet that all the members had prepared.

A quiz was one of the highlights of the evening and no, it was not group secretary David Harris who was the first non-royal on the postage stamp, but (of course) William Shakespeare.

The ladies reminisced on the autumn visit to the Bristol Hippodrome to see Top Hat; it was a memorable day ending with a meal at Magor.

Ann Rees, chairperson, would like to extend her good wishes for Christmas to all members and looks forward to welcoming them at the annual dinner in January.

Finalising the fairer funding settlement

OVER the past few weeks I have been finalising the Welsh Government Budget for 2015-16, responding to the Chancellor's autumn Statement and progressing the talks with the UK Government for a fairer funding settlement for Wales.

On December 9, the National Assembly approved our final Budget, which will safeguard key public services and boost the economy. There will be more funding for infrastructure (capital) projects in transport, housing, schools, health and a new £150m announcement for financing flood and coastal risk manangement.

I called this Budget the 'Priorities for Wales' and these include £425m of extra funding over two years for the Welsh NHS- to which we are adding the £70m funding for the health service for Wales announced in the Autumn Statement. This means increased investment in our Welsh NHS by more than half a billion pounds over two years.

I believe that this is what the people of Wales want and expect of their Government and it will support our doctors, nurses and all those who work in the health service- including our volunteer first responders. I am very proud to be the patron of the Barry First Responders who have served our community faithfully over the past 10 years.

A focus on preventative measures and early intervention has been a key feature of this Budget, which is set against a backdrop of cuts of 9 per cent to the Welsh Government, over this Assembly term, by the UK Government.

This leads us to invest in measures that help avoid problems occurring in the first place – interventions which can support children and families, vulnerable people and those at risk as a result of health needs or disability or loss of jobs and low incomes.

It also means investing in flood prevention, warm and affordable housing, skills and job opportunities as well as first class school buildings, public transport and improved roads and pavements.

In making the case for 'fairer funding' for Wales, I am backed by all the parties represented in the Assembly. This was expressed in a unanimous vote in the Assembly in October to work towards a fairer settlement in the funding we get from the UK Government, via the outdated Barnett Formula.

I was able to discuss this with the Scottish Finance Minister, John Swinney MSP in Edinburgh and with Danny Alexander MP, the Chief Secretary to the Treasury, as we make the case for a fairer deal for Wales.

In the final Budget debate, I spoke about the principles that underpin my commitment to delivering a Budget for Wales in these most challenging of times for public finances.

I said we needed to achieve 'fairer shares' in the way we distribute our funding to protect the vulnerable and tackle inequalities. On our Budget Debate day the OECD (Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development) reported that 'inequality' with deepening divides between the rich and poor, is not good for the economy, or society.

There is no doubt the economy is recovering, which is great news for Wales, and the Welsh Government is playing its part to make that happen – but it is recovering faster for some, but not all.

This has been clearly exposed by the low tax receipts as a result of low wages and part-time work, leading to higher than forecast borrowing by the UK Government.

The recent cross-party report on Foodbanks revealed that delays in payment of welfare benefits and low incomes are causing hardship for many vulnerable households- including those here in the Vale.

As we approach Christmas and enjoy the festivities, can I thank all those who volunteer in their communities and work towards breaking down those inequalities which cause hardship and help vulnerable people through difficult times in their lives.

I would particularly like to thank the Vale Foodbank for their hard work, their commitment and their support for people at the sharp end of these circumstances; for more information contact valefoodbank@ymail.com.

It is a great privilege to attend so many wonderful school, choir, church and community carol concerts in these weeks leading up to Christmas.

I would like to thank everyone involved in these events and activities which bring the Christmas spirit into our lives.

May I wish you a peaceful and happy Christmas and a happy New Year.

BUSY YEAR FOR VALE BRASS BAND

THE Vale of Glamorgan Brass Band will conclude their 'mini tour' of the Vale when they give a concert of Christmas music at All Saints Church, Victoria Road, Penarth, this Saturday (December 20) at 7.30pm.

The band has been celebrating its 40th anniversary in 2014 and has performed concerts at Rhoose, Fonmon Castle, Dinas Powys and Penmark throughout the year.

The year started with a joint concert with Porthcawl Male Choir on St David's Day, which was closely followed by the first competition of the year in Merthyr around late March.

This entailed extra rehearsal time for the test piece 'The Dark Side of the Moon' by Paul Lovatt Cooper. Being relatively new to the competition stage, the band gave a good account of themselves among more experienced competitors.

Musical director David Short introduced new music into rehearsal in preparation for the forthcoming busy concert season. The anniversary concert was held in Rhoose and the band welcomed Robert Westacott as special guest soloist for the week-end.

Robert joined the band for rehearsal on the Friday and the week-end finished with a social and presentation evening.

No sooner had one concert ended than it was on to the next. The band was invited to play at the First World War Commemoration Day in Penarth where suitable music from the era had to be learned.

The event was held in The Windsor Gardens Bandstand, a venue that hadn't been used for many years and was organised by the Friends of St Augustine's Church. A crowd of over 200 gathered around the bandstand to listen.

The band then had to prepare for the National Eisteddfod in Llanelli where they finished fourth in the 'Own Choice Entertainment' competition, and on the following day presented a programme near Penarth Pier.

After a short break, the band was 'on tour' again, this time playing in the library at Fonmon Castle. The band was warmly received by the audience as well as guest vocalist Patsy Hunt, making her debut with the band.

Then, it was on to the next competition which was held once again in Merthyr. The band were a little unfortunate to finish just outside the prize positions, missing out on third place by two points.

The autumn concert was held at Dinas Powys, where the special guest soloist was euphonium player Robert Burnett.

So, a busy anniversary year is almost at an end with the final concert on Saturday.

Tickets are £5 and will be available at the door or contact 07917-796841.

The Vale of Glamorgan Band would like to take this opportunity to thank their sponsors, A Class Apart uniform suppliers of Dinas Powys and CJ Contract Travel Services for their support, and to the people of the Vale for attending the concerts this year. PM

Vale wins two coveted 'Fields in Trust' awards

Winners of the Centenary Fields Trailblazers award.

THE Vale Council has won two awards at the Fields in Trust awards 2014.

The event saw the council pick up both the local authority Partner of the Year award for Wales and a Centenary Fields Trailblazers award.

The trailblazer award was given to Alexandra Park, which was given official Centenary Field status by Fields in Trust and the Royal British Legion in July of this year.

Llantwit Major Town Council was also the only Welsh finalist for the Partner of the Year award in the Town and Parish Council category.

Coun Gwyn John, cabinet member and Armed Forces champion for the Vale, said: "I'm incredibly proud of these awards. A lot of effort has gone in to the parks and fields across the Vale, particularly our trailblazing Alexandra Park, and I think everyone involved deserves huge congratulations."

The Fields in Trust awards seek to recognise and reward some of the many organisations who contribute most to the success of the trust's work.

Friends of the Earth group's concerns over local controversies and actions

BARRY and Vale FoE's last meeting welcomed FoE Cymru director, Gareth Clubb, who spoke about actions FoE Cymru are taking over the proposed M4 route through special environments around Newport; the continued demand for open-cast coal; and the madness of building a racetrack on top of the mountains, at Rassau. All of these proposals would cause huge environmental damage.

The group felt that development money from the new Funfair and associated housing, should be spent on making Barry Island's Promenade and Frontage more pedestrian friendly, with less parking space and further improvements for public access, including provision for park and ride facilities in the town.

Vale councillor Ian Johnson provided useful insights into proposed mergers between the Vale and Cardiff/Bridgend Councils.

The group have asked Coun Johnson to cut through the bureaucratic fog the Vale Council have put up over changes to plans for an incinerator on Barry Dock.

Local footpath changes remain a concern – some people are unaware that footpaths still marked on maps lead through their new front doors!

RUGBY PLAYERS GIVE A £1,000 BOOST TO CHILDREN'S HOSPICE

RUGBY fans attended a charity fundraising event hosted by a car dealership last week for an opportunity to meet players from Cardiff Blues.

They helped raise £1,017.93 for Tŷ Hafan at the 'A Night in with the Blues' event at Wessex Garages on Hadfield Road.

"As one of the Cardiff Blues' official sponsors we thought it would be great to host an event so that people could meet some of the players including Alex Cuthbert, Rhys Patchell, Adam Jones and Jarrod Hoeata face to face," said general manager Gareth Howells.

A question and answer session was compered by Rick O'Shea from BBC's Scrum V and a charity raffle had the chance to win a signed personalised shirt, signed rugby ball and a season ticket for the Cardiff Blues for 2015/2016.

"Two limited edition Groggs signed by the players will be going on an online auction soon. All of the money raised during the event and from the Groggs will be donated to Tŷ Hafan."

Lucy and Rhodri 'sparkle' at Ty Hafan pantomime

LUCY and Rhodri Owen brought their own Christmas sparkle to Tŷ Hafan when they visited the hospice on December 8.

The couple, who are Tŷ Hafan Ambassadors, have been avid supporters of the charity for many years and were both excited to have been asked to take part in the charity's Frozen-themed pantomime.

After handing out presents to children and chatting to families, BBC Wales newsreader Lucy tweeted a photo, and said: "Santa and his little helper had a wonderful morning with the children – great panto!"

Ruth Kearney, media and communications manager at Tŷ Hafan, said: "Rhodri is such a pro at playing Santa and Lucy was an amazing elf! They are such great sports and are fantastic ambassadors for Tŷ Hafan."

Tŷ Hafan organises a pantomime in the lounge of the hospice every Monday and Friday in December. Staff, corporate supporters and families take part in the panto which is just one of the ways Tŷ Hafan makes Christmas extra special for life-limited children and their families.

To find out how you can support Tŷ Hafan, please visit www.tyhafan.org.

ON Thursday, January 1 at 1pm, a New Year's Day walk starts at St Peter's Church, Mill Road, Dinas Powys.

NEW FLIGHTS ARE SET TO TAKE OFF!

THE first flight of the north-south Wales air service operated by Links Air departed from Cardiff Airport at Rhoose on December 10.

Links Air will operate two daily return flights but at new times to allow for a longer working day at both destinations. Initially, there will be 0740 and 1625 departures from Cardiff on Monday to Thursday, and 0740 and 1525 on Fridays. The return service will leave Anglesey at 0855 and 1740 on weekdays (1640 on Fridays).

The introduction of an earlier 0725 Cardiff departure in spring 2015, combined with the later afternoon departure, will offer an extra 35-minutes a day at each destination. Links Air will also connect the service with new commercial routes in spring 2015.

The service is supported by the Welsh Government to "improve business connectivity and promote economic growth".

IT'S JUST A SNAPSHOT... but campaign group's survey provides interesting views on planned council merger

by GEM REPORTER

A campaigning organisation that provides a voice for people who want to see improvements in the town of Barry has run a survey to find out what people think about the Vale Council merging with another authority.

The Williams' Commission has said it would like to see Welsh Councils – currently numbering 22 – halved.

The Vale Council and Bridgend County Borough Council have expressed an interest in merging.

Dennis Harkus of FocusBARRY explained that the survey had been run on the group's Facebook page and described it as "a snapshot of opinions".

Mr Harkus stresses he is not claiming it as scientific, but it is 'grist to the mill' of the debate.

So what did the survey come up with?

One question was: How satisfied are you with the Vale Council's strategy with regard to merging councils? A total of 61 people responded: one person (1.64 per cent) was very satisfied; nine people (14.75 per cent) were satisfied; 15 people (24.59 per cent) were dissatisfied; 36 people (59.02 per cent) were very dissatisfied.

Among the comments made by respondents were:

'Some decisions are too important to be made by a select number of people that have a vested interest in making choices that have a conflict of interest'; 'Barry has more in common with Cardiff and being allied to the capital city would bring more benefits to the town'; 'Should be a public vote'; 'Would be happier if the Vale stayed on their own, but would rather Bridgend than Cardiff'.

One person suggested a split – west of St Athan and Llantwit should go to Bridgend, east of there should merge with Cardiff.

Another person said the Vale had little in common with Bridgend.

Another question posed was: Do you agree that the Vale Council should seek a merger with Bridgend?

A total of 61 people responded: 11 people (18.03 per cent) said 'Yes'; 50 people (81.97 per cent) said 'No'.

Some of the comments were: 'Bridgend is the only option unless we want to become a suburb of Cardiff. Not sure either is a particularly good 'fit', but think Bridgend is a better choice'; 'What can Bridgend offer the Vale?'; 'Where is the sense in merging towns like Penarth and Dinas Powys with Bridgend?'; 'No tangible reasons have been given which leaves me deeply suspicious that the merger with Bridgend is purely motivated by political self interest'.

Another question was: Would you prefer that the Vale Council should seek a merger with Cardiff?

There were 61 responses – 41 people (67.21 per cent) said 'Yes'; 20 people (32.79 per cent) said 'No'.

Among the points made were: 'There are green shoots in Barry which may be encouraged to grow. I believe Barry would become one of the Cardiff region's big assets'; 'Cardiff and the Vale have tourism in common and it is such an important part of our economy'; 'Health, education, leisure, work – a merger with Cardiff is the only sensible option'; 'The only problem I have with Cardiff is that they might pile thousands of houses in and around Barry...'

If a merger of the Vale and Bridgend does go ahead it will transgress the commission's recommendation that mergers should not cross health board boundaries.

The Welsh government plans to respond to any expressions of interest on mergers by January 5, 2015.

Sad Seren deserves better start to life

DOGS Trust Bridgend is appealing to local dog lovers to help find a home for their longest serving canine resident, Seren, who came to the charity five years ago as a puppy after being thrown from a car.

Seren has been at the rehoming centre for over 35 years in dog years which means she has been overlooked by over 10,000 potential new owners. Her carers have put together a gallery of Seren through the seasons to show how long she has been waiting for a loving owner to come along.

Seren originally came into Dogs Trust when she was just a year old. She went to a home for a few months in but was sadly returned due to a change in her owner's circumstances.

She has now been back at Dogs Trust Bridgend since August and is one of the centre's long-term residents. Despite her difficult start in life staff have worked hard gaining her trust and she is such a sweet natured girl who adores people. Her carers think she is overlooked simply because she is a black crossbreed.

Dogs Trust Bridgend Supporter Relations Officer Linda Feagan, explains: "I love my job and have been lucky enough to have seen thousands of dogs find their forever homes over the last five years but nothing could really compare to seeing Seren finding a loving new family of her own in time for Christmas.

"I know I shouldn't have favourites, but Seren is a real star – she is such a gentle, fun loving dog and I have a real soft spot for her. Seren is a friendly and affectionate girl who could live with a family with older teenagers.

"She needs to be with someone who works only part time, as she does like someone to give her lots of hugs during the day."

Anyone interested in rehoming Seren, please visit www.dogstrust.org.uk. Dogs Trust Bridgend has dogs of all shapes and sizes looking for homes and, when matching dogs with new owners, staff will consider a wide range of homes and circumstances providing that they will fit the requirements of the dog and provide them with a loving, lasting home.

NEW RURAL BUS SERVICE IS WELCOMED IN THE VALE

AS reported in The GEM last week, the Vale Council will be supporting a new bus service between Llantwit Major, Cowbridge and Talbot Green from January and "opening up a range of new public transport links across the Vale".

Coun Lis Burnett, cabinet member for transport, said: "I am delighted to announce this new service. Since the demise of the previous bus service on this route, there has been a clear need to establish a frequent regular reliable daytime south-north rural bus link between Llantwit Major, Llandow, Cowbridge and Talbot Green.

"Thanks to the hard work of council officers, this will now be introduced next month."

The new 321 service, which will be operated by New Adventure Travel, will commence on January 5. The route will link with that of the existing 320 supported service which currently runs from Cardiff to Talbot Green via St Georges, St Brides-super-Ely, Peterston-super-Ely, Pendoylan, Clawdd Coch, Hensol and Pontyclun.

As a result, passengers will now be able to travel between destinations such as Peterston-super-Ely and Pendoylan and Cowbridge.

The new 321 will also offer passengers a link to the 303 and 304 services at Llantwit Major, the X2 at Cowbridge and the 404 at Talbot Green.

Kevyn Jones, managing director of New Adventure Travel, said: "We are very pleased to be awarded this contract and we look forward to working with the Vale of Glamorgan Council to develop the route into a key bus service in the areas it serves."

As part of the agreement reached with New Adventure Travel reduced fares will be available to passengers aged between 16 and 21 years old on bus services 320 and 321.

During the trial period production of a Vale Young Persons (VYP) card will entitle those aged 16-21 to child fares rather than the full adult price. The commencement date of this trial will be announced in due course.

T, Jane Hutt, who said: "I have been working closely with the Vale Council and rural Vale residents with regard to improving village bus services and last month, met with residents and Coun Lis Burnett at the Civic Offices.

"I am delighted that the Vale Council has since secured the new 321 bus service which will link with existing supported bus service 320 to serve residents in Llantwit Major, Llandow, Cowbridge, Aberthin and Ystradowen.

"The new bus service 321 will also offer passengers opportunities to link to Bus Service 303/304 (Bridgend to Cardiff Bay via St Athan, Rhoose, Barry, Dinas Powys and Cardiff) at Llantwit Major, Bus Service X2 (Porthcawl to Cardiff) at Cowbridge and Bus Service 404 (Pontypridd to Bridgend) at Talbot Green."

'Do something positive to help blind veterans'

A MILITARY charity with a centre in Llandudno is inviting Welsh people to think about New Year's resolutions and consider making a positive change in their lives, while raising funds for Blind Veterans UK.

The Blind Veterans UK 100 Day Positive Change Challenge aims to motivate individuals and organisations in Wales to take on their own beginning any time between January 1 and January 14, doing something positive for 100 days and requesting sponsorship for their efforts.

The charity provides blind and vision-impaired ex-Service men and women with help to lead independent and fulfilling lives, and is celebrating 100 years of service in 2015.

Challenges are anything that will result in a positive change for the individual – go without alcohol for 100 days, go for a walk every evening for 100 days, read a book for half an hour in the evening instead of watching TV, do a good deed every day for 100 days, give up puddings for 100 days – the list is endless.

The campaign is open to anyone. Families can sign up as a group to make it easier to stay on course throughout the challenge.

Even staff at Blind Veterans UK are joining in to make a positive change. Regional Fundraiser for the charity, Victoria Beech's own Positive Change Challenge is to carry out 30 minutes of exercise every day for 100 days.

Victoria said: "Blind Veterans UK strives to encourage our veterans to take positive steps in their own lives via the support, rehabilitation and training we provide. Undertaking this challenge gives the public the opportunity to raise funds to continue our work while making their own positive change."

Registration is free but Blind Veterans UK does ask that people or groups commit to raise a minimum of £10 (equal to 10p for every day of their challenge) through donations and sponsorship.

To receive more information about the 100 Day Positive Change Challenge and to sign up, contact victoria.beech@blindveterans.org.uk or 01492 864574.

A charity links Vale to Uganda

VALE for Africa, the charity linking the Vale with a community in Uganda, recently welcomed two Ugandan doctors for a week long visit.

Dr Proscovia Arach, a paediatric ophthalmologist, and Dr Thomas Ochar, medical director of the District Government Hospital in Tororo, Uganda, spent time observing clinical practice at the University Hospital of Wales, at the optometry college, and with local optician Annette Dobbs at her practice in Barry.

They also visited the Senedd, and joined Vale for Africa supporters for a meal at the Vegetarian Food Studio in Cardiff.

Ted Arbuthnot, Chair of Vale of Africa, said: "This visit has been a great success, and we are very grateful to the Cardiff and Vale University Health Board for the welcome they extended to our guests, and to all our supporters for enabling this visit to happen.

"We want to continue to work with our Ugandan partners to help prevent and treat serious eye disease, which is a common problem in this area of Uganda."

Vale for Africa supports a scholarship enabling a Ugandan student to study in Wales. It is reliant on volunteers and donors. New members welcome. For more information contact www.valeforafrica.org.uk. SB

Nicole returns to her roots for book signing

Nicole Cooke with Stuart Thom.

A building certified for worship named Holy Trinity Presbyterian Church and community Hall, Aberystwyth Crescent, Barry, in the registration district of Vale of Glamorgan in the Unitary Authority of the Vale of Glamorgan, was on 11th November 2014 registered for solemnizing marriages therein, pursuant of Section 41 of the marriage Act 1949 (as amended by Section 1 (1) of the marriage Acts Amendment Act 1958, In lieu of Holy Trinity Presbyterian Church of Wales, Junction of St Pauls Avenue and Trinity Street, Barry now disused and the registration cancelled thereof.

by PHILIP IRWIN

A STREAM of cycling fans visited the Bridgend Cycle Centre last Saturday to meet Nicole Cooke and take home a signed copy of her book, The Breakaway – a no-holds-barred account of her cycling career.

It was an appropriate location, as Nicole was a regular at the shop in her teens, popping in for repairs after attending Brynteg Comprehensive, as she was cycling to school and back from her home in Wick.

The book, published by Simon & Schuster earlier this year in August, has attracted admiring reviews, and was long listed for the prestigious title of Sports Book of the Year.

Richard Williams, senior sportswriter for the Guardian, had this to say about The Breakaway: "Her book is a compelling and salutary account of the price she paid for the victories from which many others will benefit."

Many of those victories were on her bike, and people in the Vale and Bridgend county boroughs do not realise how stunning those victories were. She gave notice at the age of 13, winning the under-16 world championship – and that winning jersey is framed and hangs in the Cycle Centre to this day.

Other victories are too numerous to list, but right at the top are the women's Tour de France, and the road race at the Beijing Olympics. Nicole told The GEM that she is still the only British cyclist of either gender to take the Olympic road race.

However, Richard Williams' quote refers to another set of battles that she fought – against a male-dominated British cycling establishment that she was never able to work with.

Speaking in Bridgend, she said: "I think that women cyclists get a better deal now when they concentrate on the track, but it will still be a struggle for anyone who wants to concentrate on road racing, as I did."

A further fight was on the issue of drugs in cycling – another issue where Nicole brooks no compromise. She wants all drugs cheats thrown out.

Nicole's success was down to talent, of course, but allied to that was a ferocious work ethic. Despite her cycling success as a teenager, she still left Brynteg Comprehensive with excellent A-Level grades.

When she retired at the age of 29, she tackled a dual challenge. She wrote this book and at the same time studied for an MBA at Cardiff University. She completed both in one year, and kept up with her cycling by riding from Wick to Cardiff every day!

Stuart Thom now owns the Cycle Centre, but when Nicole was in her teens, he was an employee there. He told The GEM: "Nicole was so keen on cycling. She just wanted to get on a bike. She was never interested in finding a bike that was faster than another – she always seemed to feel that she could go quicker than any other cyclist on her own efforts."

The Breakaway is published by Simon & Schuster.

Local association commemorates 1914 Christmas truce

THE South Wales Branch of the Western Front Association recently held a fundraising dinner to commemorate the Christmas Truce of 1914.

Out and About with The GEM

Battle of Five Armies brings The Hobbit trilogy to an epic, if flawed, conclusion…

IT scarcely seems like it was 13 years ago that Peter Jackson's The Lord of the Rings trilogy opened up with The Fellowship of the Ring. Fast forward to 2014, and Jackson is now closing out his second Rings trilogy, ending The Hobbit with the epic-sounding The Battle of the Five Armies.

Picking up where last year's The Desolation of Smaug ended (with the titular fire breather heading to Laketown to reign fire and destruction upon its residents), we see Bilbo (Martin Freeman) and the band of elves he is working with, led by Thorin (Richard Armitage) forced to engage in a war against an array of combatants all intent on claiming their share of the gold from Smaug's recently vacated mountain (not a lot then); while Gandalf (Ian McKellen), last seen imprisoned, must get free to help his friends in their hour of need...

When Peter Jackson wrapped up The Lord of the Rings trilogy with The Return of the King, it capped a truly mesmerising and incredible series of films, the likes of which we hadn't seen realised on the big screen before.

Now, as Jackson closes The Hobbit trilogy, it's in a world that has seen more than its fair share of fantasy both fair and foul; that these films have lacked the bite of yesteryear's successes is as much down to that as the fact that the Hobbit films may have been epic in scale and scope, but have been lacking in real drama and urgency.

It's the same story this time around, as The Battle of the Five Armies may be technically accomplished, delivering the big action moments you expect, but sadly fails to push things on that extra gear, particularly on an emotional level.

Jackson and company's decision (for profit or 'artistic merit') of taking the slim pickings of the source material and spreading them over three films, and eight hours, starts to come undone here. The narrative feels padded out in certain areas with some story strands feeling shoehorned in.

One particular nod to Legolas about a ranger he should keep an eye on is particularly toe-curling) or just left dangling, inexcusable in a film with a 160 minute running time.

The film does parlay some modern-day concerns via the medium of Middle Earth. You have the innocents of Laketown reduced to refugees after their town has been (fire) bombed by a (scaly) despot, the nature of greed and avarice fuelling conflict rather than out-and-out hatred, which are nicely handled and do give the script a little more steel in places.

Jackson's ability as a director is

by GARETH JAMIESON
Follow Screen Talk on Twitter – @GEMScreenTalk

unquestionable, yet here there is a feeling of throwing everything to the wall and delivering a finale that comes laden with bucket loads of bombast; yet while Jackson is at his best breaking the rules, the action here plays out pretty much as you'd expect. It may be churlish when the film (some slightly poor CGI aside) doesn't scrimp on these epic moments, but you can't help but feel they are executed with a sigh rather than a scream. The Jackson of Pelennor Fields or Helm's Deep was pushing the envelope, but the titular battle here lacks the same hunger.

What Jackson does do well is manage to maintain the narrative thrust throughout the battle; as action moves from character to character, you do find yourself swept along for the ride as the emotional tension amplifies.

It is here that Jackson is at his best, the style and drama of the closing set-pieces feeling a world away from the general (and generic) battle going on elsewhere.

On the acting side there are highs and lows; Martin Freeman as he has been throughout is a tremendous presence, the actor a fine fit for Bilbo's transformation from petty burglar to hardened war veteran.

Richard Armitage offers a Shakespearean turn as Thorin's intentions go from noble to greedy. Billy Connolly's small turn as Thorin's grumpier cousin is a highlight, Orlando Bloom's Legolas does a neat line in crazy stunts; but both Evangeline Lily and Aidan Turner are undone by their romantic subplot that just doesn't convince.

It's a shame that this finale ends with arguably a whimper rather than a bang, especially as Jackson's return to the director's chair made The Hobbit trilogy such a tantalising proposition; however these films have lived in the shadow of the … Rings trilogy, despite the best efforts of both Jackson and his cast, and sadly, for the closing chapter, The Battle of the Five Armies is less Middle Earth and more Middling Earth.

VERDICT – An epic but disappointing closer for The Hobbit trilogy, The Battle of the Five Armies doesn't lack spectacle but is lacking in an engaging narrative. The performances pass muster, and Jackson in incapable of making a film unwatchable, but it doesn't coalesce into a satisfying piece of work overall. Enjoyable.

SEE THIS IF YOU LIKED: The Lord of the Rings trilogy (2001-2003), The Hobbit: An Unexpected Journey (2012).

Screen Talk would like to wish all readers a merry Christmas and a happy New Year!

Happy Christmas from all at The GEM

Speakers regale Dinas Powys Probus club

THE December 9 meeting at Dinas Powys Probus club, was the annual occasion for 'An Assemblage of Members' Tales' – when members have the chance to address the club on absolutely nothing!

First up was Alan Smith, the club's favourite grump. He opened with an account of his hunt for the perfect combined potato/apple peeler. Good on spuds, no good on apples.

Eventually, he found a decrepit one in a junk shop and after considerable work with a file, he can now peel spuds and apples with a single implement!

Having further complained about twisting telephone cables, under-sized washing-up bowls, ironing boards and motorway signs, he finished by commentating on British Gas adverts which offer to carry out electrical repairs. Can they now put gas down wires he wonders? Warm applause from the floor.

Next up was Arthur Coxon (Royal Navy, retired) 'A Moment Alone With Royalty.' In 1968, he was seconded to become Squadron Commander of the Kenyan Navy. His first official function was to organise a trip in a patrol boat for Emperor Haile Selassie, the Lion of Ethiopia.

In passing, Arthur reminded members that rumour had it that the Emperor could trace his blood-line back to an illicit meeting between the Queen of Sheba and King Solomon.

The official party were all onboard at Mombasa when it was discovered the Emperor's dog, a chihuahua named Lula, had been left in the royal car, and as Haile would not go anywhere without Lula, everyone scrambled off the boat leaving Arthur alone with the Emperor.

He was directing him down to his cabin when he cracked his head on a low lintel. Arthur had visions of death by the burning spear, but fortunately he was not badly hurt.

The courtiers returned with the dog, which was promptly trodden on by a seaman with size 16 boots.

Arthur remembered him with affection and found him to be a pleasant man with no sense of arrogance. Having spent the war in Britain, he was killed in 1975 during a Marxist uprising and was buried under his palace toilet as a mark of contempt. Again, warm applause.

The third speaker was Geoff Thomas and once again content was of a different nature from what had gone before.

It concerned the decline in many aspects of our native tongue, and the efforts apparently being made by a totally fictitious pressure group named United Kingdom Restore English Party, named UKREEP for short.

This was a group seeking to restore the purity of the language of Shakespeare.

The basis of the presentation was to show how the language has declined by presenting examples of what has become universally known as business speak.

The vote of thanks was given by Ceri Jones, who congratulated all the speakers on behalf of the members.

Vale scientist Ben a Gold Award winner

A WELSH scientist from Wenvoe has been granted £5,000 by the Worshipful Livery Company of Wales, as the winner of their Gold Award 2014.

Ben Palmer (28) was chose for his contribution towards science and his research into the future of advanced optical materials such as X-Ray and photonic crystals.

The former student at Cardiff University obtained a first class honours degree in chemistry and a PhD in solid state chemistry. Following postdoctoral research at Swansea University, he became Dean of Faculty Fellow in the department of structural biology at the Weizmann Institute of Science, Israel, earlier this year.

Ben has already received numerous awards at both undergraduate and postgraduate level for academic excellence including the prestigious Koshland Prize from the Weizmann Institute of Science.

His research has been widely published in internationally leading science journals and he has also authored a book chapter in a major reference work in solid state chemistry.

The former Barry Comprehensive School pupil has already used some of the funding for travel costs to various academic institutions and conferences, including the University of Amsterdam and the International Gordon Conference on Biomineralization, New Hampshire, USA.

He will use the remainder of the money to enable him to attend and deliver a research lecture at the International Chemistry Conference of the Organic Solid State (ICCOSS) in Japan next summer.

Former Barry student, Ben Palmer at the Weizmann Institute of Science in Israel, where he is currently Dean of Faculty Fellow in the department of structural biology.

Ben said: "Winning this award will have a decisive impact on my prospects of establishing an independent academic career and will also serve to improve and deepen my development as a scientist.

"At this vital stage in my career, where I am taking my first steps towards independence, it is absolutely critical that I continue to publish high quality papers and effectively disseminate and raise the profile and impact of my research and the Gold Award will greatly assist me with this."

The aim of the Worshipful Livery Company of Wales' Gold Award is to support a young person who has demonstrated a major contribution to the arts, science or technology for the benefit of the people of Wales.

Wayne Warlow, Master of the Worshipful Livery Company of Wales said: "We are delighted that we have been able to assist someone of Ben's talent and dedication to science.

"For someone of his age, his accomplishments are fantastic and we are looking forward to seeing him achieve even more in the future."

SALLY PIONEERS INTERN SCHEME AT ASSEMBLY

A groundbreaking internship, created by patient and carers charity Crohn's and Colitis UK, placed Sally Coughtrey (from the Vale of Glamorgan) with Assembly Lib Dem Leader Kirsty Williams (Brecon and Radnorshire) on a 12 week paid placement.

A spokesperson explained: "The programme is designed to provide a unique opportunity for young people whose career prospects are often otherwise blunted by their Inflammatory Bowel Disease (IBD) – more commonly known as Crohn's disease or Ulcerative Colitis.

"The aim of the scheme is to help young people with these chronic life-long conditions overcome employment barriers. To date, this new initiative has proved popular with both MPs and interns alike, providing the young people with significant career boosts."

Sally – who has Crohn's disease – commented: "I have already had the opportunity to work on a new Bill currently before the Assembly on public health. I have been critiquing the Bill and suggesting ways it can be amended. I have also been asked to write briefings for Assembly Members on a number of different areas, including culture and poverty and the Armed Forces."

A pilot programme was successfully launched earlier this year, placing two candidates with MPs at Westminster, with one candidate now employed as a Parliamentary Research Aid for her MP.

There are an estimated one in 250 people living in the UK with IBD and more than 50 per cent of new cases are diagnosed before their mid-twenties.

The conditions can cause severe stomach pains, urgency for the toilet, relentless diarrhoea, extreme fatigue, nausea and loss of appetite. Symptoms fluctuate and periods of remission can be followed by acute 'flare ups'.

Ed Wilson, deputy chief of staff to Kirsty Williams AM, said: "Sally hasn't been phased once with any of the varying tasks we've given her and she's coped brilliantly despite being thrown in at the deep end with hefty legislation to wade through!

"She's proven to be a great asset to our research team."

Commissioner's team meets Sheltered Housing Forum

THE Older People's Commissioner for Wales' team attended a Dinas Powys meeting of the Vale of Glamorgan Sheltered Housing Forum to outline projects under way, such as work to help to preserve vital community services that older people rely on and the recently published report, A Place to Call Home?

This sets out actions to improve the quality of life of older people living in care homes in Wales.

Around 20 people – representatives of sheltered complexes in Llantwit Major, Cowbridge, Barry, Dinas Powys and Penarth, meet every two months to discuss issues affecting some or all of the complexes with local authority staff.

Residents asked about the implications of a proposed merger between the Vale Council and Bridgend Council, considering that the Vale has retained its housing stock, while Bridgend's is now run by a social landlord.

The Older People's Commissioner's engagement co-ordinator, Kate Hughes, talks to the group at the meeting in Dinas Powys.

Glamorgan GEM
Season's Greetings

A time to share message of peace that unites all men (and women) of goodwill...

AT Christmas, we celebrate the birth of Jesus and timeless themes that remain as relevant today as they were in Bethlehem 2,000 years ago.

In a modern world that is so often beset by strife, 'Blessed is the peacemaker' and 'goodwill to all men' are universal ideals that stand the test of time – and which all men of goodwill should be happy to share.

Christmas is also a time for the whole community to share and extend greetings, as 2014 slips away into the history books and another year awaits its turn in the wings.

The GEM, too, would like to take the opportunity to add our voice to the messages on this page.

We heartily wish all of our readers and advertisers a very happy, peaceful Christmas and a prosperous New Year.

Masonic lodges' epic trek for Noah's Ark!

LEFT: The members of local Masonic lodges of South Wales, led by Services Lodge of Penarth, set themselves a testing challenge to raise money for the Noah's Ark appeal – a walk all the way around Wales with members taking different legs of the journey.

Here, some of the Walk Around Wales team are shown as Paul Haley presents a cheque to the chairman of Noah's Ark, Mr Lyn Jones.

Everyone is wearing their presentation medals for completing the walk. The total is still going up and is now over £20,000.

What's on, and where in your area?

Local author on radio

LOCAL author and public speaker, Ron Powell, is to appear on the BBC Radio Wales book programme, Phil The Shelf, talking about his debut novel, Wings Over Summer, which follows the fortunes of a young Spitfire pilot from Barry during the Battle of Britain.

Two years ago, Ron, who lives at Nell's Point, sent the unpublished manuscript of Wings Over Summer to the Shelfstarters section of Phil The Shelf, and appeared on air to hear what presenter, Phil Rickman, and a literary agent thought of it.

"In the end, I decided to self-publish on Amazon, which I did with the help of Penarth-based author, K J Rabane."

Phil The Shelf is broadcast on BBC Radio Wales at 1.30pm on December 20, repeated at 6.05pm on December 22.

Debut gig

A NEW line-up of local musicians makes its debut at the Park Hotel, Barry, at 8.30pm on Saturday, December 20.

Consisting of Kirby Stevens (drums), Andy Cleary (bass), Rob Weekley (keyboards), Pete Hughes (guitar) and fronted by Julie and Laura, the Groove Habit will include tracks from Stevie Wonder, Chic, Lionel Richie, Daft Punk and David Bowie.

Councillors' surgery

LABOUR Vale and town councillors for Buttrills and Court wards, Barry – Bronwen Brooks, Pamela Drake, Jeff Evans and Stuart Egan, will be holding an advice surgery on Saturday, December 20 from 10am – 11.30am in the meeting room of Barry Library, King's Square. No appointment is necessary.

Carols

FAMILIES and children will be welcomed to the 'Carols by Candlelight' on Christmas Eve at the church of Merthyr Dyfan, in Merthry Dyfan Lane, Colcot, Barry at 2.30pm.

The service will be taken by Father Robert Parish, and the organist will be Barry-born Father Brian Taylor. Admission is free.

On Christmas morning carols and sung Mass are at Merthyr Dyfan Church at 8.45am.

Breast screening

THE Breast Test Wales free mobile screening unit will be situated at Sainsbury's Sarn from January 6 to April 21.

Women aged between 50 and 70 will receive postal invitations to attend for screening, if they are registered with the following surgeries: New Street surgery, Tynycoed surgery, Ogmore Vale surgery, Nantymoel surgery and Cwm Garw practice.

Women aged over 70 will not automatically be invited for breast screening, but can request an appointment by telephoning Breast Test Wales on 029 2039 7222.

Anyone concerned about a breast change should visit their GP without delay. Telephone Breast Test Wales on 02920 397222.

Murch Junior School Choir – TAKE A BOW!

YOU may have been to many Christmas carol concerts but you haven't heard the real thing until you've heard the Murch Junior School Choir!

On Thursday, December 11, 40 children from Murch Juniors visited Bethel House in Dinas Powys and gave the residents the treat of the year.

Talk about good behaviour – they had it; talk about disciplined singing – they did it. They were superb and a great credit to their teacher, Mrs Emma Messer, who had taught them how to sing so joyfully, both in unison and in parts, while maintaining excellent diction. Oh, and we must not omit to mention the special guest – a diminutive Santa who handed out sweets all round.

Who said the kids of today don't care? When they were about to leave the school earlier, the heavens opened and did it rain!

The children were given the option to call it off, but no – they were determined not to let us residents down, so they tramped the half mile through the rain to enthral us.

However, there was one disappointment... the concert lasted for only 40 minutes. We would have liked it to last at least twice as long!

Well done, Murch Juniors, from all the residents.

David Chapman, Dinas Powys

Seaview Lads all set for Christmas!

ON Sunday we held the first leg of our Christmas competition and also fished for the Wyndham page Trophy.

Thirty anglers made the early start, in spite of a forecast of high winds and rain. The winds were as strong as forecast and resulted in many fishing marks being difficult to fish and anglers had to choose spots where a days fishing was possible over spots that might be the number one choice for catching fish.

Thankfully, the rain stayed away for most of the day but so did the fish. Half the anglers didn't land anything in size and many didn't even have a single bite!

Top place on the day went to Kevin Salah, with an eel of just over 5lb, while a codling helped ICA into second place, with Royston Harding and Jodie Velda sharing third place

Fishing surely must improve for next week's second leg! Let's see a big turn out on Sunday as it is the last competition before Christmas - unless we can squeeze in a night one on December 24!

'Cardiff merger would be retrograde step'

by Coun NEIL MOORE Leader of the Vale of Glamorgan Council

AS we come to the end of the year, it would be good to review what has happened in the Vale of Glamorgan and during our term in office. Therefore, in my next column I intend to review what has happened in the council.

I will wait until then, as much still needs to be decided before December 31, particularly in relation to the council decision over the possible way forward on the reform of local government, and whether or not the Expression of Interest in merging with Bridgend Council will be agreed by the full council meeting on December 15.

I know that when the original proposals were considered, I was very vocal about the recommendations of the Williams Commission to merge the Vale Council with Cardiff Council. I did so because I believed the recommendations were flawed, and felt that at that time I had no option but to take a stance and inform the Welsh Government that I would not support such a merger.

My stance has not changed and it will not change in the future. I believe that a merger with Cardiff would be a retrograde step and the people of the Vale would be seriously disadvantaged.

We would, in my opinion, be subsumed. All the good work that we have achieved will be lost and we would not be an equal partner in the relationship. We would lose out on service delivery, as we did in the past, during the existence of South Glamorgan County Council, when there was a serious underinvestment in areas such as education.

What people forget is that South Glamorgan Council only dealt with the strategic services such as social services, highways, education, trading standards, strategic planning and strategic economic development.

What is also sometimes forgotten is that we also had a Vale of Glamorgan Borough Council, which dealt with the services closest to the people such as housing, leisure, environmental health, licensing, waste management (street cleaning and refuse collection etc).

The newly merged authority would see all of these services transferred and I believe these services would not be as effective or efficient and meet the local needs as they are now and that we would become the poor relation to Cardiff.

We waited for a reaction from Welsh Government, which took a year or so and as a result, as with everything in life, things move on. In this case, the Welsh Government decided to do two things. Initially, they began a consultation process asking councils for an official response to the Williams Commission recommendations. Confusingly, during that initial consultation period the Welsh Government asked for councils to consider whether they would agree to any voluntary merger proposals.

They could either conform to the Williams Commission proposals or consider other alternative and different merger proposals (possibly because of the negative reaction to those recommendations).

Regrettably, and again confusing matters even further, after issuing the voluntary merger proposals, the Welsh Government Minister responsible for local government made his intentions abundantly clear and confirmed that there would definitely be local government reorganisation – and it would happen "with or without" our support.

He also confirmed that stand-alone councils such as the Vale were not an option. The Vale Council initially responded to the first consultation document by confirming that they did not want to merge with Cardiff under any circumstances and wanted to stand alone.

However, subsequently, and bearing in mind the Minister's announcement, the Vale Council agreed to explore if we could merge with another council of a similar size and with a similar ethos that could provide services to the people in a similar manner to the Vale. We have, therefore, done exactly that and I presented a report to the council's cabinet to submit an 'Expression of Interest' in merging voluntarily with Bridgend Council, who also agreed to this voluntary proposal.

This proposal will be considered by the Vale's full council on December 15 and subsequently by Welsh Government in the New Year. The Welsh Government were to respond on January 5, but that date has now been postponed until some unknown date in the future.

I sincerely hope that the Minister will take seriously both the proposals by both of our councils.

I am also aware that some people have asked why we have not engaged with the people of the Vale, but it is important to note that so far, all that has been agreed by the Vale of Glamorgan cabinet is the submission of the 'Expression of Interest'.

We are at the start of what could be a lengthy process and which will ultimately rest with a decision taken by the Welsh Government.

I will, however, ensure that whatever happens or is decided by Welsh Government, everyone will be kept informed of the outcomes and the processes that need to take place, but that may take some years to come to fruition.

REMEMBERING THEM

I WOULD now like to turn to other matters. Last month I referred to the Armistice Day commemoration on November 11, but since then both myself and the Mayor were asked to represent the council at a World War One commemoration at our twin town, Mouscron in Belgium, along with the other twinning towns of Fecamp in France and Rheinfelden in Germany.

The Belgian people are very respectful of the efforts of the Allied forces during that time, as well as respecting the soldiers of the German army, both of whom served their countries during these futile conflicts.

Mouscron is in the area of Wallonia and within the area known for trench warfare in Flanders. During the visit we were very proud to lay wreaths at the Berkshire Regimental Memorial in 'Plugstreet', so called because the British troops could not say 'Ploegsteert'.

It was an honour to be asked to represent the Vale of Glamorgan at these commemoration events. At the site, there is also a very impressive memorial along with an interactive museum, which was extremely informative.

We also had the opportunity to visit several of the very many cemeteries and memorials in the area, which included the site of the Christmas Day football match between the British and German troops, during the truce on that day.

It was also very poignant that the visit coincided with the opening of a new memorial to this event.

What impressed most was the way in which the locals volunteered to look after the sites and give the presentations at the memorials and carry out the weekly ceremonies, recognising those who lost their lives representing their country, no matter on which side they fought.

I would recommend a visit either in person or via the Plugstreet website if you want to know more.

On a previous occasion I was also very pleased to be invited to St James' Palace in London representing the council at the ceremony for the Duke of Edinburgh Gold Awards being presented to young people from across Britain, but also to 12 very deserving young people from the Vale of Glamorgan.

Although I was not able to talk to each of them personally, due to the way in which the event was organised, I would like to send them my personal congratulations and wish them well for the future.

I was also pleased to represent the Vale as we have extremely good links with the Duke of Edinburgh Awards scheme and it was announced that St Donat's College and Beechwood College are now accredited with the Duke of Edinburgh Award scheme, whose representatives were also present on the day.

Finally, I would like to wish everyone a very Happy Christmas and a peaceful New Year.

FONMON APIARY NEWS by HAROLD WILLIAMS

Get 'hands-on' experience of beekeeping this winter

WINTER temperatures are certainly controlling the activities of the Honeybee colonies now; anything less than 10ºC, and there is a distinct lack of external sightings of colony occupants.

Honeybees do not hibernate; with the onset of external wintertime temperatures they form a cluster within the hive and there they achieve a temperature that allows them to move to their food stores and of course remain alive until better times come along i.e. spring.

It is imperative that the hive containing the colony is weatherproof; if this is not the case the bees will struggle to control things and may well not survive at all.

All of the colonies will now be left undisturbed until March or April; by this time the days will be lengthening and spring will hopefully bring higher temperatures and our bee year will begin afresh.

However, although the bees have stopped working the beekeeper must set to and see to it that equipment now not in use is stored correctly, and by that I mean that all wax combs are secured in vermin proof containers; if not you will surely get a visitation from mice and they will render said combs unusable.

Prior to storing your combs, it is also necessary to examine them carefully because we have two little creatures that will be very happy for their larvae to utilise your combs as a winter home even though you have prevented the mice from getting at them.

What are these creatures? They are two species of wax moth and their aim is to lay eggs in any cracks or crevices in the hive or in your honey frames.

The bees can usually cope within the hive but it requires the beekeeper to treat any frames scheduled for winter storage with acetic acid, and this will check the development of any eggs or larvae before they can render the combs unusable.

This is also the time to clean up the queen excluders, smoker, hive tools and, of course, all of the super boxes that will be used to contain your honey frames come next year. Having everything clean and ready for immediate use next year is what we are aiming for. Sadly, this is not the case in many instances.

This year has seen the pollinating insects responding to the favourable conditions - one insect that has not appeared in its usual numbers has been the wasp! It has shown up but it has not been seen around the hives, as it normally would be.

The varroa mite is still with us and will be for the foreseeable future. As I have done in the past, I am still designated as a sentinel apiary beekeeper.

This means that I have to look out for any of the coming threats to our colonies from alien species. Regular inspections throughout the beekeeping year and reporting to the NBU my findings, or lack of them, will help in our efforts to assist the honeybees' survival.

A new training apiary within the grounds of Dyffryn Gardens has now been established. Come next spring, those who will be new to the craft of beekeeping can get hands-on experience, along with other aspects of beekeeping and hopefully become beekeepers in their own right.

A visit to Cardiff beekeepers' site on the web will furnish contacts for people who wish to enquire about courses for the coming year 2015.

I have a lot of equipment to clean and must push on if I am to be prepared myself for the coming 2015 season.

Pupils' tour de force on the Yellow Brick Road!

ON December 10 and 11, the Barry Comprehensive School hall was transformed into the magical land of Oz for this year's Christmas pantomime The Yellow Brick Road.

The script (written by Mr Ian Piekielniak) was loosely based upon The Wizard of Oz and featured all of the original characters from the film, including Dorothy (Miss K Walters) Scarecrow (Harry Morgan Grant) Tin man (Joel DeGaetano) Lion (Tom Bowen and Jamie Brown) and the Wicked Witch (Mrs A Ellis), as well as some special appearances from Snow White (Mrs J Lander) and Batman (Daniel Broadbent).

The performance played to two sold out audiences with many commenting that "that was the best yet" and "It was funnier than the one in Cardiff"; and another stating "I saw Wicked in London last week and this (The Yellow Brick Road) was much better".

Once again, the drama department couldn't be more proud of all the performers on stage and the technical team behind it. Putting together a show like this in just two weeks requires dedication, commitment and exceptional teamwork, which everyone involved had in abundance!

The school pantomime has become an annual event over the last 10 years and is one that both staff and pupils look forward to.

On behalf of the cast and crew of The Yellow Brick Road, we would like to thank everyone who came along and lent their support during the week. We would also like to wish you all a very happy Christmas and a happy New Year! AC

Star lights up the Ty Hafan Christmas panto

WELSH actor Craig Roberts has joined in the fun of Tŷ Hafan's Christmas pantomime.

Micheal Gooding with son David, Craig Roberts and Santa.

The film and TV star, best known among those at Tŷ Hafan for his roles in hit children's show The Story Of Tracy Beaker and CBBC's Young Dracula, dropped by to watch its Disney-themed panto as part of the hospice's Precious Moments campaign.

He is calling on the public to contribute towards creating more special moments for children, especially during the festive season, after taking time out from his busy schedule to support Tŷ Hafan this Christmas.

Craig said: "The work that Tŷ Hafan does is incredibly important. The staff and volunteers working at the children's hospice do the most remarkable job to ensure that children and their families can celebrate Christmas with the care and the support that they need, and I am honoured to be here."

Craig recently finished work on his directorial debut Just Jim starring Emile Hirsch, which will be released in September.

Meanwhile Tŷ Hafan wants people to talk about their own 'precious moments' through social media in the run up to the Christmas season and help continue providing support for life-limited children across South Wales in 2015.

Jenna Lewis, head of individual giving at Tŷ Hafan, said: "Life is all about those precious moments so we want people to think about their own most special memories and share them online. The support that Tŷ Hafan provides extends further than our hospice and is delivered in the family home, at hospital and in schools across Wales. Our hope is that the public will support our Christmas appeal so we can continue providing families with precious moments which they can cherish forever."

It costs £3.7m a year to provide the charity's state-of-the-art facilities at Sully and its support services to families out in the community.

An individual donation of £23 would provide an hour of care and support to a child and his or her family, but the charity is urging people to donate what they feel able to, as the whole operation depends on the generosity of the public.

To make a donation please visit www.tyhafan.org/precious. Share your own precious moments by sending a tweet to @tyhafan with the #preciousmoments hashtag.

SHEDDING A FEW POUNDS IN CHRISTMAS PUDDING RACE BEFORE THE BIG DAY

THE Christmas Pudding Run at Merthyr Mawr on Sunday, December 14, drew a large amount of entries.

It was a multi-terrain event – sand, track, road and field – that tested competitors to the limit.

As you can see from Glyn Evans' record of the day, there was an off-terrain aspect too, splashing through a freezing stream!

Presentation night at Wenvoe golf club

PRESENTATION night is always a special occasion at Wenvoe Castle Golf Club with the winners of the various club competitions receiving their well earned trophies.

There was a glittering display of silverware and vice president Colin Champ showed considerable stamina in announcing the winners and in total 37 trophies presented for the various men's, ladies and mixed competitions.

Some competitions were settled on the day but several knock out competitions lasted over many rounds throughout the summer months and the winners had certainly earned their rewards particularly their names engraved in gold leaf on the honours boards.

The men's club championship had been a stunning contest between the veteran Keith Simpson and Leigh Ivory during which there were no less than 15 birdies shared by both players as the game ebbed and flowed to a thrilling finish.

Over the first 18 holes Keith built up a commanding lead of four holes which increased to six as they began the final stretch. In a tremendous effort to get back in contention Leigh fired a barrage of birdies to get back to just a one hole deficit as the players stood on the 16th tee.

Drawing on his vast experience at the highest level Keith then responded with birdies on the next two holes to close out the match 3&1 on the 17th hole and clinch the title for the seventh time. Leigh was denied his first championship title but played his part in a high quality match and will be long remembered by all the spectators particularly club captain Ken Howells who congratulated both players on match played in a truly sporting manner and a credit to both players.

On receiving the trophy Keith also took the opportunity to thank the head green keeper and the green staff for presenting the course in superb condition not only on the day but throughout the year.

In the ladies championship it was to be a new name on the cup with Barbara Beedham and Lynda Campbell challenging for the title for the first time.

It was another match over 36 holes in which the tested the quality and stamina of both players. Barbara gained the upper hand over the first 18 holes and at the half way stage led by four holes. A determined fight back by Lynda closed the gap to just two holes but the match was probably won and lost on the ninth and 10th holes where Barbara won both and extended her lead back to four holes.

Despite a valiant attempt by a very competitive opponent to close the gap the match eventually finished on the 13th hole and where Barbara deservedly clinched the title.

Wenvoe Castle Golf Club certainly has a lot to offer the competitive golfer of all standards and new members are very welcome. There is plenty of opportunity to play social golf and off the course a busy programme is full of events to overcome the disappointment of wayward drives and missed putts.

Why not consider joining as a playing or social member and contact the club secretary Nicola Sims on 02920 594371 who will be delighted to give you the details on membership or use of the facilities.

2014 COMPETITION WINNERS

Roller skating club ends the year on a high

GLAMORGAN Artistic Roller Skating Club attended the last competition of the year on Sunday, December 9, in Andover.

The club had fantastic results with Bethan Daly and Michael Vaughan winning first place and second place in the couples and duo dance events, Medi Western and Ewan Maxwell both coming second in the interclub formation trios and Donna Daly gaining third place in the over-30s solo event.

All of the skaters placed well within their events and congratulations go to Lara Goodwin, Kaitlin Daly, Phoebe Escott, Maya Archampong, Erin Maxwell, Amy Goodwin, Charleigh Griffiths and Elizabeth Vaughan for the fantastic efforts they put in.

The competition team will now be training hard for their next competition which will be held in Herne Bay in January.

The club has been running for five years now and has gone from strength to strength. It teaches artistic roller skating to all ages - anybody interested in joining the club should contact the club secretary Anne Marie Escott on 07517854453. AG

Drama as the Saints hold on

BARRY Saints walked away with three points after a tough 2-1 win over G.C.A.W (Greek Cypriot Association of Wales).

The Saints were hindered by injuries and unavailability and were only able to call upon 12 players for a difficult fixture against the third placed team in the league. The Greeks were looking for a scalp against the unbeaten Saints but came up short.

They took the lead when a freekick on the edge of the box was powerfully converted past stand-in keeper Gareth Hegarty. Saints were creating chances but showed very little conviction rarely testing the opposition keeper.

Doubt was creeping in and the Saints who could get very little going on a small narrow pitch were drawn into a battle. At halftime some harsh but honest words amongst the players seemed to do the trick and Saints came out and began to play some football.

Instantly they were level; after some great work David Evans found space to finish his one on one opportunity low into the bottom corner. The Greeks continued to push forward and Hegarty was called into action stopping a low effort which nearly fell to the opposition winger but full back David A Evans slid in to block.

Saints then grabbed the lead against the run of play. A long throw flicked on by Williams found Darren Townsend to volley home in to the bottom corner.

Saints had numerous chances to put the game beyond the hosts but with two minutes to go the final score could have been different. The Saints had possession in the the opposition's corner but after pushing to many men forward a long ball over the top found the Greek's pacey striker.

He squared the ball past the last man to find three unmarked players in the box. The midfielder went for glory and was brought down by Hegarty and a penalty was awarded, but no card given.

Up stepped their pacey striker, hitting a low powerful effort, only to be outfoxed by Hegarty with a smart save. The rebound popped up in the air which the penalty taker got to first but found his header loop over the bar.

With that the final whistle was blown, and Saints, playing nowhere near their best, still got the win and remain unbeaten going into the new year. GL

Vale six set to face England

SIX young footballers from the Vale will be lining up against England in 2015 – thanks to a joint initiative between the Welsh Football Trust and the Vale of Glamorgan sports development department.

Over two years ago plans were put in place for football sessions with coaches from Post 2 Post coaching and the Welsh Football Trust development officer to run for special educational needs schools and departments throughout the Vale in order to help feed the Welsh national learning disabilities squad.

Funding was gained through a partnership with the Vale of Glamorgan Council's sports development department, who also helped create links with the schools to set up the sessions.

These alerted coaches to several players throughout the Vale and now six players have represented their country at international level: Abdel Boulaiche, Coby Mardenborough, Ryan Garland, James Leake, Zach Cleary and Luke Swain all helped the Welsh National LD team in winning the 2014 Home Nations, where they were undefeated against the Republic of Ireland, Northern Ireland and Scotland.

Later in the year, Wales drew 3-3 with a very experienced England side, after being in front for most of the match. All the players are looking forward to their future in football, with every one of the team looking to play at the highest level they can, including Ryan Garland who will be playing his football in Australia for the next year.

Simon Jones, Disability Sport Wales development officer for the Vale Council, said: "This is an excellent example of how partnership working can benefit local people who take part in sport.

"A lot of these players weren't known to either party before the project took place, now six of them have gone on to represent their county which is a credit to the coaches and the players themselves."

Wales will be playing England in March with the aim to improve on the 3-3 draw earlier this year, as well as defending their Home Nations title in April.

Evan lands hat-trick

LLANCARFAN trainer Evan Williams had 12 runners at Ffos Las last Monday – and came away with three winners.

He took the first two races with Cape Caster and Clyne and the last race the National Hunt Flat Race with Nansaroy. Cape Caster won the Juvenile Hurdle at odds of evens and Clyne, a 14-1 chance, took the novices' hurdle beating the odds on favourite Globalisation.

Both winners were ridden by stable jockey Paul Moloney who was chalking up his 50th winner of the season.

Nansaroy, a 12-1 shot , ridden by Lewis Gordon, finished half-a-length ahead of his much fancied stablemate The Gibber who was ridden by Connor Ring.

Williams said: "Both riders, Lewis Gordon and Connor Ring, had ridden perfect races and had finished first and second without touching their mounts behind the saddle. I told them to go out there and ride their races and nothing else. You don't have to drum orders into good young riders."

Debbie Hamer, who hails from the Vale but who now trains in west Wales, saddled her Magical Man to win the Walters Land Novices' Handicap Chase.

A 16-1 outsider, Magical Man was ridden by James Davies son of former Welsh National Hunt jockey Hywel Davies.

Sports are defeated by Llandaff

SULLY Sports took on Llandaff North, losing by six points in a game that if they wanted, they could have easily won.

Sports were the stronger and more skilled team on the day, and took their chances well after the visitors took an early lead.

The lead then passed back and forth between Sports and Llandaff North, but yet again Sports showed how far they are willing to go to play good rugby, and some excellent interlinking between the forwards and backs, saw them break out from their own 22 metre line, showing enterprise and scoring well worked tries.

The score didn't reflect the game, Llandaff North taking the match 32-26.

Thanks to all the supporters who braved this cold day; Sully are back to the league action this weekend playing Cathays away.

RHOOSE LIFEGUARDS CELEBRATE A YEAR OF SUCCESS WITH AGM AWARDS

RHOOSE Lifeguards Club celebrated another successful year of competitions, lifesaving awards and other events at their annual general meeting, held recently in the leisure complex at Fontygary.

With awards presented and a disco, everyone had an enjoyable evening at the annual get-together.

2014 has been another busy year for the club with members from the Nipper, Junior, Senior and Masters age groups congratulated on their efforts in the various competitions and awards achieved.

As well as the excellent competitive performances over the year, the club also thanked members who work with the committee and with other roles. In particular, club chairman Jake Bremner thanked Sian Baron and Alan Wadey for their many years of commitment to the club with treasurer and membership secretary duties.

Simon also thanked Karen O'Donoghue-Harris for her time as vice-captain with the club, and Andy Wall for his work as club secretary. Karen O'Donoghue-Harris and Liz Wong were awarded with the lifetime award for 25 years service to surf lifesaving.

Simon added: "Thanks to Steve and Liz as Junior and Nipper co-ordinators for all of their hard work. Thanks also to all the coaches and helpers that give of their time each week – coaching, training, towing trailers – organising events and competitions, helping out at events, organising clothing and kit, raising funds and fetching and carrying their children."

The 2014 series of events started with the Stillwater pool competitions in early spring. The Rhoose Ski Race took place in May, after a cancelled first date due to the stormy weather and dangerous sea conditions.

The summer Welsh and GB Ocean Champs followed with the annual Toudic Cup Club Swim completing the competitive element for the club.

A number of the junior and senior members of the club also travelled outside of the UK as part of the Welsh team. We had six members representing the Welsh regions at the Atlantic Games – Finn, Alex, Rhys, Kelsea, Georgia, Kathryn and Lauren and Tanara at the senior event.

As well as the competition element to the club there have also been fun days, Nipper and Junior camps, IRB weekends, social events and a Nipper 'design a t-shirt' competition.

Lastly, Rhoose members have also supported the RNLI and Vale Lifeguard service with eight members working for the RNLI, and a further four working for the council, patrolling here at Fontygary.

We look forward to continuing to work with both organisations as required to provide lifeguard cover on the beaches in the Vale of Glamorgan. Also, although not directly supported by the club, we have had eight of our members working as pool lifeguards at Fontygary, Barry and Cardiff pools.

PRIZE-WINNERS

Individual awards: Nippers: Most enthusiastic newcomer Girl – Scarlett Davies; Most enthusiastic newcomer Boy – Robert Grice; Most Improved Girls – Elle Bulmer and Tesni Gardiner; Most Improved Boys – Ethan Wall and Jai Gerrish; Jake Bremner Award – Ollie Wong and Helen Jenkins; Toudic Cup (Winner of the Nipper Race) – Declan Ewington; Nipper outstanding achievement awards and Nippercamp certificates were presented to a number of the children.*

Juniors and seniors: Best First Year Junior – Helen Jenkins; Most Improved Paddler – Jason Grice; Best Junior – Finn Rees; Toudic Cup (Overall Winner) – Alex Parry.*

Masters: Kevin Rowlands Trophy based on performance at Welsh and GB Ocean and Stillwater individual events – Karen O'Donaghue-Harris. (Thanks to Elaine Edgerton for her time in collating all of the results for this award); Sarah Thompson Award for best performance in the beach events – Melissa Downton.*

A number of the Nipper, junior, seniors and masters members were presented with surf lifesaving certificates and awards. Congratulations to all those who achieved the above awards.

Rhoose Ski Race: Rhoose Lifeguards won the overall trophy.*

As well as the above, Paul Gardner was presented with the Margaret Cooper Award for service to the club. Simon Parker had the following words of thanks: "Paul continues to be active with the club as he has done for many years, whether it be through training with the Nippers and juniors or competing in the masters team. He also dedicates many hours to 'behind the scenes' work and as a club we thank him for all of his hard work."

Rhoose Lifeguards would like to thank again all of the members, parents, coaches and friends of the club for their continued support – thanks for a great year! JF

PENARTH HOCKEY FIRST TEAM PICK UP EARLY CHRISTMAS PRESENT WITH MEDICS WIN!

PENARTH Hockey Club's First XI returned to winning ways in time for the festive break, taking advantage of Cardiff Medics to get an early taste of the Christmas spirit with a 6-1 win, while the Seconds were denied their own Davis Wood Hockey League victory in dramatic fashion away at Gwent, drawing 2-2.

Penarth's 1st XI welcomed their opponents to Barry Sports Centre knowing that they had already beaten the same opposition in their season-opening encounter.

Despite again being forced into selection changes, the home side started strongly, taking the game to their opponents from the opening push back as the weather gods provided ideal conditions for good hockey.

Penarth's pressure paid quick dividends too, with a patient build-up being completed by a clinical reverse stick strike from Chris Baker.

The lead was doubled within minutes as the Bears pushed forward, allowing defensive midfielder Tom Harran to claim a rare goal shortly before the mid-point of the half.

At the other end, goalkeeper Mark Harris – the victim of a barrage of goals in recent weeks – was left with little to do as the Medics failed to exert any pressure on the home defence, allowing the restructured back four more than enough time to clear their lines on the few occasions play broke beyond the midfield.

Buoyed by their dominance, Penarth effectively put the game to bed before the interval, with Phil Lane and Chris McCarthy doubling the tally without reply, leaving the Medics facing a four-goal deficit ahead of the second period.

The visitors, somewhat belatedly, altered their tactics after the break, pushing more men forward to put greater pressure on the home defence, but it was still Penarth that held the upper hand, able to both build through the midfield or hit their opponents on the break.

With Gareth Hurman and Tom Parkinson providing useful links through the midfield, further goals always looked likely, and Lane duly obliged with a brace to complete his hat-trick midway through the half.

Perhaps taking their foot off the gas in the final minutes, Penarth's bid for a clean sheet came unstuck as the Medics claimed a late consolation, but six goals and three points proved welcome early presents as the Vale side heads into the Christmas break sitting eighth in De Cymru & The Marches 1.

One week from travelling to foot-of-the-table Bridgend, Penarth's 2nd XI felt a sense of déjà vu as they headed to another away game against a Gwent 'B' side that had sunk to the bottom of the pile since the last round of fixtures.

An early start brought its own problems as the Rougemont School pitch remained in the grip of a heavy frost, delaying the pushback by 20 minutes.

When the game finally got underway, Penarth began by underlining their stronger league position, but were unable to make the breakthrough and paid the price when Gwent struck on the break, intercepting the ball in midfield before drilling the ball into the bottom left corner of the visitors' net.

Although Penarth quickly redressed the balance, snatching an equaliser before the break, it was clear that the desired passing game was still AWOL, although this was, in part, due to the still thawing pitch rather than the quality of the opposition.

The Vale side were more dominant in the second half and managed to create several chances either side of Gwent having a goal disallowed. Penarth's pressure eventually told as a second goal saw them take the lead with 15 minutes left on the clock, but the home side were not to be denied.

After a late period of pressure, a defensive error allowed a bobbling ball to reach an unmarked player, whose last-minute tap in salvaged a 2-2 draw.

Although the poor state of the pitch played its part in a predominately scrappy affair, Penarth had good reason to feel frustrated as a much-needed victory went begging as Gwent capitalised on two defensive howlers, leaving the Vale side seventh in the standings.

Although the 1st XI heads into hiatus for a few weeks, league action continues for the seconds, who go west to Neath for a mid-table clash where victory could see the sides swap places for Christmas.

Penarth Hockey Club always welcomes new, old and returning players, umpires, supporters, friends and helpers regardless of age and ability.

Training takes place on the artificial turf at Barry Sport Centre every Wednesday, with the juniors in action between 6-7pm and seniors between 7-8pm.

Further information can be obtained from secretary Dave Stevens d_stevens81@hotmail.co.uk). CL

Barry seconds squeeze past the Saracens

BARRY 2nd XV travelled to Cardiff Saracens for their rearranged Mallet Cup tie, hoping to maintain the momentum gained from last weekend's victory over Rumney.

With players beginning to return from injuries and unavailability, coach Rhidian Scott and manager Ken Chow had the luxury of making limited changes to the side, with the backline looking especially settled.

It was, however, always going to be a tough task to play a first-team in Cardiff Saracens and the opening exchanges proved that was the case. Barry fell foul of the referee's whistle in the first quarter, but the home side failed to take advantage with their outside half missing both penalty attempts.

Barry looked dangerous with ball in hand, with Ethan Dicks and Joel Williams looking particularly threatening. Jamie Oaten and Lloyd Dutton were colossal in the lineout, but when the official's whistle went again, Barry found themselves down to 14 men.

The away side also found themselves five points down before halftime, when an opportunistic kick forward was not fielded by the green-and-whites, and the result was an unconverted try.

Scott resisted the urge to ring the changes at halftime and his faith in the 15 players on the field was justified when Barry dominated proceedings after the interval.

After good work in the tight by John Dimond, Lee Turnbull and Oaten, Dicks put his side on the scoreboard with a penalty kick following a Saracens transgression in the contact area.

The home side struggled to cope with Barry's attacking play in the next quarter, and it was no surprise when the away side took the lead. Williams switched the angle of attack, bringing Rhidian Mepham into the line who in turn fed Rhys Knapman to outpace all defenders and score out wide. Dicks was unable to add the extras.

Saracens huffed and puffed in the final quarter to look for a way back into the game, but found Barry's defence, led by captain Lee Jones, in unrelenting mood.

Instead it was the away side who looked more likely to add to their lead, with Thomas, Evans and ultimately Dicks threatening the Saracens line.

The home side had one last chance in the dying embers of the game but when the ball fell loose and was hacked into touch, the referee's whistle signalled the end of a pulsating game in which Barry came out on top.

Barry 2nd XV will face Caerau Ely in the next round at home, while they continue their league campaign away at St Josephs this weekend. The 3rd XV are also in league action at St Peters.

TEAM: Mepham; Knapman, Busuttil, Dicks, Poole; Williams, Dimond; Thomas, Turnbull, Lundy; Rolfe, Dutton; Oaten, Jones ©, J Evans.*

Replacements: Ring, McTavish, Morris, D Evans. Man of the match: Dicks.*

SULLY BOWLERS' MIXED RESULTS

SULLY Indoor Bowls teams had mixed results during the past week with the Club Championship team suffering a heavy defeat on their visit to league leaders Blaenau Gwent but the Stadium senior team maintained their unbeaten record by beating favourites Caerphilly (Islwyn).

On Saturday, December 6, the Stadium team travelled to Abertillery to play Blaenau Gwent on their three rink green which meant that Sully had to send three rinks to play at 10am and three rinks to play at 2pm, which is far from ideal, but made little difference to the result.

On a green with a much quicker pace than the Sully players are used to and a Blaenau Gwent team which included a number of internationals and players on the fringe, Sully were up against it from the off.

Sully morning skips of Brian Griffiths, Brian Foscolo and Fred Phillips were immediately put under pressure by the opposing rinks and went behind early with Griffiths' rink struggling against the Blaenau Gwent rink skipped by Welsh international Steve Harris.

The rinks of Foscolo and Phillips put up brave performances and both were leading into the final quarter but were outplayed over the final few ends leaving the home team ahead by 31 shots after the morning session.

The afternoon rinks of Matthew Woodcock, Martin Clarke and Ken McLeod tried to raise their games to not only overcome the deficit from the morning but also attempt to gain some points from winning on their rinks.

But the home side were in know mood to let Sully get into the game and all Sully rinks went down heavily suffering a 52 shot reverse plus the 31 shots from the morning gave Blaenau Gwent an 83 shot victory, 169-86 - a total whitewash, giving them 22 points.

Sully senior team played their fifth Championship game at home on Friday against their strongest opponents to date needing a win to qualify for the national play-offs.

The game began with the opposition taking a nine shot lead after nine ends with Griffiths's rink 10-0 behind but at the end of the 10th he had recovered to go 12-11 up.

The other rinks skipped by Dave Snelling, Fred Phillips and Ken McLeod were at this stage all having close games but Sully were still behind by eight shots. The game from the 10th end began to swing in Sully's favour; although Phillips and Griffiths were two and five behind respectively, the rinks of Snelling and McLeod at the 15th end were ahead by six and seven shots leaving Sully now ahead by six shots.

During the final six ends the rinks of McLeod, Griffiths and Phillips held their opponents while Dave Snelling's rink of Graham Cogbill, Alun Bryan and Mel Newman drew right away winning by 15 shots allowing, Sully a 12 shot victory, 84-72.

Sully took 10 points to Blaenau Gwent's four leaving Sully still unbeaten and in pole position to qualify for the national play-offs.

There is a three-week break over the Christmas period before the next round of games. The stadium will be open over the Christmas holidays, except for Christmas day and New Years day; opening times are 10am to 3pm.

Congratulations to Sully's Martin Clarke on making the final Welsh bowls trial, and we would like to wish all bowlers a merry Christmas and a happy New Year. FP

Lifeguards host Vale speed relays

ON Sunday, December 7, Rhoose Lifeguards hosted an afternoon of team relay races based on surf lifesaving events at Barry Leisure Centre.

The competition, entitled 'Vale of Glamorgan Speed Relays', saw junior, senior and masters teams from Sker, Llantwit Major, Pen-y-Bont, Southerndown and Rhoose, take part in races – including obstacle, manikin carry, rope throw, fin and medley events.

With each competitor in a team racing a pool length or 25 metres in events, the emphasis was on quick and 'speedy' races, which kept the momentum and energy going throughout the afternoon.

Rhoose Lifeguards would like to thank all of the teams for taking part and for all of the volunteers who helped with timekeeping and organisational duties.

Dinas ladies' golf

ON December 2, Turkey Trot Six Stableford – First, Annie Blackburn 17pts; second, Audrey Harwood 16pts on back six from third Sue Bridle 16pts on back three from Pam Warne 16pts.

On December 4, we held a successful nine hole Mulled Wine: First, Maxine Hird, Sian Smith and Pat Gosling 38pts; on back six from second, Angela Brown, Audrey Harwood and Terry Unwin 38pts; third Lisa Ryley, Ruth Yates and Annie Blackburn 34pts.

On December 9, we held a Texas Scramble: First, Angela Brown, Pat Gosling and Sally Livsey Davies, 42-7.25 = 34.75; second, Louise Wilding, Ruth Yates and Jackie Lewis 41 - 5.83 = 35.17; third, Maxine Hird, Audrey Harwood and June Jones, 42- 6.75 =35.25.

After golf, we gathered for a lovely brunch and presentation of Turkey Trot prizes. RY

TEAM WALES ARE WRESTLING WITH SUCCESS!

THE Welsh wrestling team built on their success in winning a bronze medal at the Commonwealth games with an outstanding performance and result at the recent Maltese Open.

A young Welsh team consisting of nine wrestlers and two officials led by head coach Alan Jones took part in this important annual international event alongside the hosts and teams from Northern Ireland, Switzerland and Italy.

This event was the last in a busy calendar year dominated by the Commonwealth games. The bronze won in that tournament has given the whole team a boost and to finish the year in style with victory in Malta for the first time is reward for the hard work of the whole team.

Each team member performed excellently with many terrific, hard fought bouts especially from the Cadets (16-17) who competed in a combined category with the older juniors (18-20). This made things harder for Team Wales but despite this disadvantage Iwan Baker (Rhoose) and Reece Price, both earning their first caps, produced great results and Bobby Singh won the gold in this category.

Further medals followed with Tom Nelson taking bronze in his first senior international in the 65kg division, Kane Charig took a silver in the same category losing by an agonising one point in the final to a top Maltese wrestler before Tommy Hawthorn started the gold rush in the 74kg category.

Wales' only female wrestler competing, Molly McCann, moved Team Wales up the leader board with a gold in her category before a nailbiting finale.

Welsh hopes were pinned on Salman Myalslav, who was pitted against Abraham Vassilo, victor in the previous three Maltese Opens, in the final of the 86kg category. After a cagey first round, Salman turned on the style to pin his opponent, win a fourth gold for Wales, and seal the overall team trophy for Team Wales.

The hard work is beginning to pay off and this victory with a young, inexperienced team on the back of the Commonwealth success provides great confidence for Welsh Wrestling in the future.

Disaster strikes Barry Chess Club

ALL four Barry Chess Club teams were recently in action in the East Glamorgan League.

We played two home games while the other two teams both travelled to Cardiff. Unfortunately, we lost two narrow games and were annihilated in the other two so we lost all four matches.

Out of 20 boards featuring 15 different Barry Chess Club members, we could muster only five points, which is our worst weekly return for many many years.

The Bosons hosted the North Cardiff Woodpushers in a division 1 clash, while at the opposite end of the hall the Gambits took on the Caerphilly Rooks in division 4.

The Bosons' side was allegedly strengthened by the return of Oxford student Rhys Steele. This was unfortunately his first match for almost three months and his ring rusty performance proved the decisive factor in this game.

The Woodpushers are a strong outfit on the top boards but have two 1m700 players at the bottom. For this match there was a late replacement as Ben Choo Yin was ill and he was replaced by Liam Penny, with an estimated rating of 1,500.

We did successfully win, with Steve Cunliffe on board 4 and Ashley Davis on board 5, to record a narrow loss by 3-2.

On the same night, the Gambits found themselves playing their lowest rated team of the season to date. The normal boards 3 and 4 were elevated to the top two boards.

The Rooks have normally selected from only six players. However, on this occasion Mike Joslin was unavailable, so they brought in a ringer, Bob Hurn on board 2.

This meant that this was by far the strongest team the Rooks had put out this season. The rating difference was so great that the cumulative ratings for the Rooks top three boards almost matched the cumulative ratings for our entire team.

It was no surprise when board after board was won by the Caerphilly side. The night was pierced by an agonising cry as Dwain Jones's flag fell and he thought he had lost.

It was pointed out to him that as his opponent, Jason Grice, only had his king on the board and therefore did not have mating material, the result was actualy a draw. Jason's half point was all we could muster.

The next day, there was a table topping clash between league leaders Barry Camelots and third placed Cardiff Castles. With Matthew Parry being unavailable, Chris Green was promoted to lay his first ever division 1 game for Barry.

The Castles side was so strong that Alan Spice was on board 4 giving them a team with four players rated over 2,000 and their board 5 was rated over 1,900. The quality of this team was too great for us and only Craig Woolcock saved our blushes with a draw on board 2.

This meagre return was enough to blow the Camelots off the top of the division for the first time in two months.

The Castles now have a narrow lead, with the Woodpushers not far behind. The Bosons bring up fourth place but are some way behind the top three with a game in hand.

The Barry Quarks, perhaps the surprise team in division 4, had a weakened team in Cardiff to play the Dragons.

With a couple of players unavailable and a couple playing for the Camelots, we expected to struggle. Steve Bonutto and myself made first starts in division 3 this season and both felt pleased to record draws. With a defeat on board 3 the match hung in the balance.

On board 1, Kevin Gandy was in a bit a of trouble, but managed to get his queen into a strong position. He was playing for a draw by perpetual check until his opponent found the only square for his king to allow Kevin to mate him and earn our only win on the night.

John Stephenson played on in a difficult position, hoping for a draw on time or a stalemate. He failed in his objective and was mated, with his opponent having only 31 seconds left on his clock.

The Barry Chess Club meets at 7.30pm each Monday at the West End Club, St Nicholas Road, Barry CF62 6QY.

The club is open to players of all standards; whether you are interested in playing competitive chess, or just the occasional friendly game.

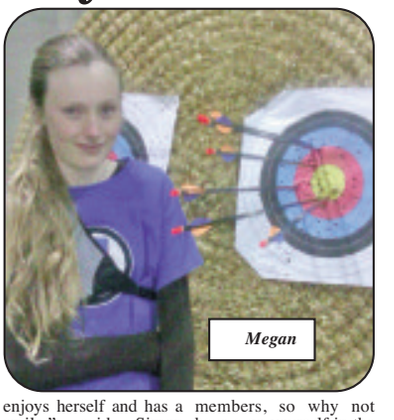
News from Caerau Dragons Bowmen Archery Club...

CLUB members were proud to present one of their junior members with an achievement award after just one year as an archer.



Megan

Megan joined Caerau Dragons Bowmen Archery Club with her dad Rhys last November and after completing a beginners course of six lessons, she then progressed to practising indoors twice a week with the club.

As the evenings became lighter during the summer, outdoor shooting started at the club allowing targets to be placed at greater distances of 30 and 40 metres and Megan was able to practise and refine her skills with a greater challenge.

Constantly encouraged by other members of the club and supported by her family, Megan has achieved First Class and Bowman classifications at club level.

"This is a terrific achievement for Megan who has shown commitment and dedication to the sport over the last year, occasionally shooting in unfavourable weather conditions. She always enjoys herself and has a smile," said Simon Miskin, club chairman, who presented Megan with her Bowman classification badge.

The club is always looking for new members, so why not have a go yourself in the new year with a set of beginners lessons. Contact either Simon on 07974786235 or head coach Andrew Ellis on 02920 598062. SM

Bowling club's social evening

BARRY Central Bowls Club held a social evening recently at the Glenbrook Inn.

This was a most enjoyable dinner attended by the club president and his wife, the chairman, members of the committee and a number of bowlers, together with guests.

This has been a year of mixed fortunes for the club, who have very sadly witnessed the demise of some members, although attracting some new members to both the ladies and men's section of the club.

The last social event of this year will be one of the club's coffee mornings at 10.30am on Saturday, December 20. This will be a fundraising event, together with a presentation on behalf of the British Legion.

The members are looking forward to the 2015 bowling season, with the club issuing an invitation to new, as well as experienced bowlers, to join us at Gladstone Park on April 18, the start of the club's open week at the commencement of the new season.

Cadoxton students land impressive medal haul

WORLD Organisation of Martial Art Athletes (WOMAA) British Grand Prix finals were held in the Barry Memorial Hall, hosted by master Mal Johns.

Having competed over the last 12 months in various ranking tournaments a number of students from the Cadoxton School of Tae Kwon Do were in the mix for Grand Champions.

The grand prix series consisted of beginner less then one years training, advanced over one years training in all categories, traditional patterns, weapons point and continuous sparring. With points being awarded for every podium place and totalled up after the last tournament resulting in a series grand champion.

As usual the tournament started with traditional Patterns, then onto Weapons, Point & Continuous sparring, beginners, and advanced categories.

After a long day competing five students from the Cadoxton Taekwon-Do school came away with 10 British W.O.M.A.A. Grand Championship titles between them.

Grand Champions In their various categories are: Maddison Allen, Continuous Sparring Grand Champion; Thea Cunningham, Continuous Sparring Grand Champion; Jessie Blackley, Point and Continuous Sparring Grand Champion;

Cody Jacobsen, Weapons and Continuous Sparring Grand Champion; Lucia Cunningham, Patterns, Weapons, Point and Continues Sparring Grand Champion.

Little book of horse racing...

ON AND OFF THE TURF with Brian Lee

DO you know what the oldest horse race in Britain is, where the term 'gee gee' comes from, or who is credited with bringing racing to Ascot?

The Little Book of Horse Racing by former point-to-point rider Anne Holland (published by The History Press at £9.99) is a compendium of the fascinating, strange and entertaining facts that can be dipped into time and time again to reveal something new about the ancient sport of horseracing.

There are chapters on betting, racecourses, racing terminology, influential stallions, jockeys down the centuries, and so much more. On comparing two great jockeys, Fred Archer and Sir Gordon Richards 50 years apart, we learn that in Archer's time he had to rely on trains and horse drawn vehicles for transport, but Gordon not only had a chaffeur-driven car he could also travel by air.

Fred rode in the upright stance of the time, but by Gordon's time, the forward crouch position had long been adopted. Gordon is reported as saying: "Fred Archer's performance easily outstripped mine and let nobody doubt that. I make this statement with absolute sincerity and certainty. His was an extraordinary, a unique performance... his achievement in 1885 of riding 246 winners in a season, taking into consideration the difficulties with which he had to contend, is the greatest feat a jockey will ever achieve... Fred Archer is one of the really great men of the turf."

Kind words indeed from Gordon, who many believe to have been the greatest flat racing jockey in the world.

If your husband, wife or partner is into horse racing, then this cracking little book would make a great Christmas stocking filler.

Champagne Chaser

CHAMPAGNE CHASER*, trained by Tim Vaughan at Aberthin, was a 10 lengths winner of the bumper (National Hunt flat race) at Uttoxeter last week.

Confidently ridden by Richard Johnson, Champagne Chaser was fancied and was returned the 9-4 favourite.

For sale

TIM VAUGHAN has several horses for sale and these include Panis Angelicus, a five-year-old son of Panis who he describes as "a tough, consistent individual who won on his most recent outing, over two miles on the flat at Chantilly at the end of October. The third home, who was beaten less than two lengths, won well in a listed race at Saint-Cloud on his next start."

Also up for sale is Tobacco Road, a son of the exciting young National Hunt sire Westerner. Tim said: "He has shown a very high level of form on the flat over the past two seasons, winning twice at Sandown and Windsor and running to a very high Racing Post rating of 94 when finishing runner-up over the extended one mile and three furlongs back at Windsor last time out."

If you want advice on buying a racehorse, Tim's telephone number is 01446 771626.

Meanwhile, one of Tim's to look out for in the next week or two is the ex-Irish recruit Dubh Eile. Tim said: "Dubh Eile has done very well physically since being purchased at the Tattersals August sale and has been showing up well on the gallops at home."

It's a Steal!

It's A Steal, trained by Evan Williams at Llancarfan, ran out an easy 10 lengths winner of the 32Red.Com Handicap Chase at Warwick last week.

The promising seven-year-old was ridden by stable jockey Paul Moloney and went off the 9-4 favourite. The day's riding honours however went to J E Moore who rode three winners-Top Gamble, Kylemore Lough and Incentivise- for Welsh border trainer Richard Lee.

The last named was once owned by the late Cardiff saddler John Ayres.

King Rolfe romps home

King Rolfe, trained by Tim Vaughan at Aberthin, romped home a 13 lengths winner of the opening John Marsden 80th Birthday Handicap Chase at Southwell on Sunday where Vaughan is the leading trainer.

King Rolf, a 9-1 chance, and at six the youngest horse in the race, was ridden by leading jockey Richard Johnson.

Barry's unbeaten record is broken in the Bowl

BARRY RFC entertained Nantymoel in the Swalec Bowl on Saturday.

The game was laden with expectation as both sides were yet to be beaten this season with identical records.

The opening exchanges showed a touch of nerves from both sides as opposing kickers tested each other in a territorial battle. A change of tactic from the visitors was to prove costly as their first attempt to move the ball in hand broke down; the loose ball was swept up by Perry to score the opening try, duly converted by Scott.

However this setback saw Nantymoel begin to settle into their game and for the next 10 minutes they began to pressurise the Barry scrum and dominate loose play, helped by some poor decision making on the field.

Despite Barry's best efforts they were unable to defeat Nantymoel in the battle of the unbeaten sides. PICTURE BY HOWARD POOLE

When a side possess two outstanding kickers at 10 and 15 who also have pace, as Nantymoel had, it makes no sense to kick down their throats, giving them the opportunity to counterattack either through the boot or by hand

Despite one two forays by the forwards Barry were on the back foot, not helped by the early loss of winger Jones with a serious facial injury to be replaced by O'Sullivan.

Full credit to the home defence during this period as they held out against the constant attacks of the visitors who were proving to be a well drilled and organised opponent.

The match was changed in a five minute spell as the visitors ran in two tries, both coming as a result of counter attacks from loose defensive kicking, giving Nantymoel a 14-7 lead on the half hour.

The efficiency of the visitors was causing Barry to hurry things, creating basic errors in the team, and it was no surprise when they went further behind before halftime from another counterattack to put the difference to 14 points.

The one thing that the Barry side has shown this year is character and the early exchanges in the second half showed they had no intention of losing their record without a fight.

Having made changes, either through tactics or injury, Vidal and Poole joined the fray as the home side tried to reduce the deficit. This nearly happened when, after a charge down, Barry's threequarters attacked and looked certain to score only for the referee to adjudge the final pass to be forward.

Despite this pressure the home side were finding it difficult to break a stubborn defence even when reduced to 14 men through a yellow card.

They were not be denied and following good linking play the ball was moved to White who despite a juggle or two crashed over for a try which went unconverted.

Still needing two scores Barry were penalised at the restart giving Nantymoel the opportunity to widen the gap, which they duly did to 12 points.

This setback only fired Barry up and they began to play a more up tempo game, causing some panic in the visitors' ranks and a second yellow card.

Attacking from every opportunity Barry got to within five points of the lead following some forward driving play gave Vidal the try which Scott converted.

The match entered its final 10 minutes and while Barry had the upper hand they were unable to get the decisive score and conceded one final penalty which made the final score 27-19 in the visitors' favour.

On Saturday, December 20, Barry will play Old Penarthians in a rearranged league fixture, kick off 2.30pm.

Poor second half sees Dinas Powys lose to Llanwern

DINAS POWYS FC could well have taken something from this game against Llanwern, but a poor second half performance saw them throw away a one goal lead at half-time and concede three times.

Llanwern started brightly, keeping the ball well and spraying passes around on what was an excellent surface considering all the rain on the previous days.

They had an early free kick taken by Daniel Hooper which Dinas keeper Alex Hales took comfortably but the hosts were quicker to the ball at this stage and forced the first corner of the game after 10 minutes, which led to a spectacular overhead kick by Jordan Jones which was well over the Dinas crossbar.

The hosts continued to press and a cross from Robbie James was side-footed goalward by Nic Hooper but was wide of the target.

Dinas began to get into the game and good work from Carlos Indjai forced a corner taken by Nicky Bruce which the defence dealt with easily. They followed this up with some excellent play by young King Junior Mwedzo wide on the right.

He played the ball to Keiron James who made room for a shot from just inside the box, the ball just going the wrong side of ex-Dinas keeper Chris Golton's right post. Dinas were playing well at this stage and a cross from Luke Swaffield was headed goalward by Indjai but his effort was cleared off the line.

At the other end Hales had to make a double save from close range before Dinas broke away again and as Sam Johnson drove into the box he was tripped, the referee pointing straight to the penalty spot. Full back Nicky Bruce stepped up and drove the ball hard and low into the net giving Golton no chance to give Dinas the lead on 25 minutes.

The visitors continued to press - a cross by Johnson found Ben Ah-Mun at the far post who got his header on target but it didn't have enough power to trouble Golton and another cross from Indjai was met by Ah-Mun but his effort was well over the bar under pressure.

At the other end Hales pulled off an excellent save from Matthew Hibbs and the hosts began to press again. A cross from the right was headed just over the bar by Nic Hooper and in the last minute of the half Nic Hooper laid the ball off to his brother Daniel but his effort was off target and Dinas went into the interval with their lead intact.

Llanwern came out firing on all cylinders for the second half and Dinas were thankful to Swaffield who blocked an early effort from close range but, just three minutes into the half, they were awarded a free kick just outside the box which Nic Hooper took, getting it up and over the wall and beating Hales for the equaliser.

Tempers began to flare at this stage and the referee stopped the game for some time, showing yellow cards to several players after consulting with his linesman.

Things settled down again but Dinas just didn't seem up for it any more and it was the hosts who looked the best side for most of the second half. They forced two corners which Dinas managed to clear but 20 minutes into the half they got their noses in front when a cross from the right was headed home by Michael Bishop at the far post.

Dinas manager Lee Saunders then rang the chances, as Ben Ah-Mun was replaced by Mamadu Banguraso followed 10 minutes later by James Alloway, who replaced Bruce with 10 minutes remaining.

The nearest Dinas came to getting back on terms was a shot from Banguraso which Golton had to push round the upright for a corner.

This spurred Dinas on and they did rally for the last 10 minutes, forcing a goalmouth scramble which looked as though they must equalise but somehow the Llanwern defence eventually cleared it and Dinas were made to pay with a couple of minutes left when James Marr was dispossessed by Hibbs to slot home for 3-1. In the last minute Indjai did get in a deep cross which Golton collected and at the final whistle Llanwern were worth the three points.

Squad: 1 Alex Hales, 2 Luke Swaffield, 3 Nicky Bruce, 4 James Marr, 5 Steve Provis (c), 6 Keiron James, 7 Sam Johnson, 8 Atif Bashir, 9 Carlos Indjai, 10 King Junior Mwedzo, 11 Ben Ah-Mun, 12 James Alloway, 14 Mamadu Banguraso, 15 James Bloxham.

On Saturday, December 20, Dinas host Undy Athletic at the Murch with a 2pm kick off where they will be looking for a much better all-round performance.
